Hope To Secure Clarification Of Russia's Cease-Fire Proposal

Gen. Van Fleet Says Reds Can't Start Offensive

In No Shape To Make Major Offensive At Present Time, He Says

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, June 28.—Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet said today an increasing Chinese Communist buildup in Korea is for "future effort" but that the Chinese are in no condition at present to launch a major offensive.

The Eighth Army commander's statement came as Red troops in central Korea broke off a series of small but sharp probing attacks which failed to dent United Nations lines.

No Comment on Rumors

Eighth Army officers replied with an unvarying "no comment" to questions about a series of rumors sweeping the war theater. These rumors included a growing one that North Koreans had already proposed a meeting with General Ridgway. (Headquarters intelligence sources in Tokyo flatly denied that such a proposal had been broadcast.)

International News Service War Correspondent Don Nixon reported from the battlefront that information reaching UN forces indicated that Communist officers have told their troops that the Allies rejected Jacob Malik's cease fire proposal.

Dixon said in a heavily censored dispatch:

"According to reliable informants, the Communist leaders told their troops about the Malik offer two days ago and then reported that the United Nations had already rejected the offer and would go on fighting."

Van Fleet told newsmen he had "no comment" about the possibility of a Korean cease fire, declaring: "I have had no instructions about that." He did say, however, that talk of a cease-fire had had no effect on Allied morale.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Secretary of State Acheson may act today on a report from Moscow which is said to suggest that a Korean cease-fire be negotiated by the opposing commanders on the field, including the Chinese Reds.

Acheson called in his top officials last night to go over the report cabled from Moscow by U.S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk on his 20-minute talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

(Radio Moscow said that Gromyko had given Kirk an "appropriate explanation" when the question concerning the concluding part of Russia's proposal for a cease-fire.)

Indictment Of Pittsburgh Mayor Asked By Grand Jury

PITTSBURGH, June 28.—(INS)—Indictment of Pittsburgh mayor David L. Lawrence and other city officials has been asked by a special grand jury investigating Pittsburgh's coal and street lighting contracts.

The grand jury charged Lawrence with misdemeanor in office because of alleged laxity in requiring the EW Coal company and the Broadway Maintenance Corporation to fulfill their city contracts.

City controller Edward R. Frey, also charged with misdemeanor, was recommended for indictment a second time in the probe. Last April he was acquitted after a trial on charges of converting to his own use labor of city-paid employees.

Formal Report In MacArthur Probe Unlikely

Senate Committee Not Planning Any Report On Testimony

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The MacArthur investigating committee appears ready today to wind up its work without issuing a formal report on its seven weeks of historic testimony.

Chairman Russell (D), Ga. said he has "found a surprising sentiment in the committee against undertaking to make a formal report."

Some Democrats predicted privately the chances were strongly in that direction and Sen. Brewster (R), Me., said flatly:

"Any report that we could get wouldn't be worth the effort."

Brewster paid tribute to Russell's achievement in getting the committee to agree unanimously to a declaration of "faith" in American unity against aggression, but said:

"From this point on we would fly into 26 separate pieces."

He referred to the likelihood

U.S. Opposed To Admitting Red China To U.N.

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondence)

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Secretary of State Acheson declared today that the United States is still "steadfastly" opposed to the admission of Communist China to the United Nations.

Acheson reiterated that the United States still recognizes the Chinese Nationalist government and is determined that the question of the dosposal of Formosa should be settled by peaceful means and not by force.

Acheson declared:

"So far as the admission of the Chinese Communists to the UN is concerned, we have steadfastly taken the position that those who claim to represent a nation should not be permitted to shoot their way into the United Nations."

He pointed out that the U. S.

Large Crowd Takes Part In Catholic Day Outing

Catholic Day of 1951, held on Wednesday, June 27, is now history.

But for thousands of Catholics of Lawrence county, the day will be remembered as highly successful, despite the rain which fell late in the evening.

The fourth Catholic Day outing was dedicated to his excellency, Rt. Rev. John F. Dearden, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese.

Held at Cascade park, proceedings for this fourth annual event started at 10 a.m. with registrations. Busses from all districts in the county transported the picknickers—who from near and far decided to make a day of it. And that they did! A basket picnic was enjoyed at noon. Shortly afterwards various sports races for both boys and girls were staged. Prizes were given to the winners.

J. M. O'Neill Speaks

As principal speaker on the evening's program, those attending heard Dr. J. M. O'Neill, professor of the department of speech, Brooklyn college. "Catholics and American Freedom" was his subject, taken from his book of same name to be published in October. A most interesting historical record of the relation of American Catholics to democracy and civil libertise from colonial times to the present was the gist of the talk.

In part, Dr. O'Neill, noted author and lecturer, pointed out the grave danger that confronts

Work of pouring concrete on a section of the Pennsylvania turnpike in Lawrence county has already been started. Cement work has been started on the roadbed near the Indian Run road at the southeastern tip of the county and is proceeding east toward the Beaver river.

The work is seven and a half miles from Homewood and is being done by the Joyce Brothers contracting firm, which is laying concrete a full 24 feet wide at one time. A portable mixer mixes cement, sand and gravel together for the spreader on the spot. Workmen are laying about 1,500 feet, or a ltitle less than a third of a mile each day. # Filibuster On Controls Law May Develop

WASHINGTON, June 28—(INS) A Senate filibuster loomed today against a 30 or 60-day extension of the present controls law.

Chairman Maybank (D) S. C., of the Banking committee, said that "several of us intend to talk and talk and talk" in opposition to any attempt to replace the controversial new bill with a simple continuance of the present act.

Last-Minute Compromise?

Still smarting from a series of smashing defeats in Wednesday's Marathon session, the supporters of President Truman's demands for stronger controls powers were reported to b econsidering a last-minute compromise attempt based on an extension of the present law.

But they admitted that Maybank's threat, coupled with the fact that price-wage-rent-production controls will die Saturday midnight unless extended, presented a real problem.

After suffering a severe setback on a beef price control provision, administration forces regrouped to block a scheduled attempt to weaken the law's rent control section.

Prior to his service in Akron as superintendent of electric transmission and distribution, Mr. Giles was superintendent of the central engineering department of the Ohio Public Service company, with headquarters in Elyria, O.

Graduate Engineer

A native of Peoria, Ill., Mr. Giles is a graduate engineer of the University of Wisconsin where he was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma social fraternity and a member of two honorary engineering fraternities, Tau Beta Pi and Pi Tau Sigma. After receiving his degree at Wisconsin, he served as instructor in the school of engineering there for one year. In 1923 he went to Washington, D. C., working as an examiner in the U. S. Patent Office. While there he studied law at George Washington university.

In 1924 Mr. Giles joined the Cities Service system and was employed in various capacities with the Ohio Public Service Co. —then a Cities Service subsidiary —until the merger of that company with Ohio Edison company in 1950.

Mr. Giles is married to the former Ethel Zimmerman whom he met as a fellow student at Wisconsin university. They are the parents of two children, Nancy Lou, who graduated with honors from Northwestern university a year ago, and William Warner, a high school sophomore.

During World War I Mr. Giles served as a lieutenant of coast artillery and was stationed at the coast artillery officers' school at Fortress Monroe, Va.

expressed the opinion that the present "stubborn ground action across the entire front" is a screen for the Communist buildup. He added:

"The Chinese are not in a position immediately to launch a major offensive, and the present buildup is for future effort."

Meanwhile in Tokyo Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, commander of the UN forces, had no comment to make on the possibility he will negotiate with the Red field commander in Korea for a ceasefire.

Reports from UN headquarters in Flusing Meadow, N.Y., speculated that the Russians had proposed such a meeting as the first step toward settlement of the Korean War.

Seek To Protect Supplies

Allied officers in the field expressed the belief that the sudden flurry of attacks by the Reds indicated that they were battling as best they could to protect their supply and buildup area around Kumsong.

On he western front the Reds continued their buildup for a possible new offensive drive south toward Seoul through the main invasion route of the Uijongbu corridor.

The Communists kept supplies and troops flowing to positions north of the front lines in the west despite mounting losses to Allied air attacks.

The Fifth Air Force battered the Reds with 96 sorties during the night and claimed hits on 75 vehicles.

The Far East Air Force announced that in order to reduce the flow of enemy supplies to the front it bomber command Superfortresses Wednesday switched from heavy attacks on enemy airfields to radar-bombing of an important Communist materiel and equipment center at Hongwon on the east coast aboard Hungnam.

Russell will proceed with the difficult job of seeking agreement on some points of the investigation if a majority wish to try it.

The armed services-foreign relations group approved Russell's statement reassuring the free world of American strength and warning Russia not to mistake internal debate for national weakness.

The declaration warned the Communists that if they push the world into World War III they could never win and would face "ultimate destruction." It said:

"The issues which might divide our people are far transcended by the things which unite them. If threatened danger becomes war, the aggressor would find at one stroke arrayed against him the united energies, the united resources, and the united devotion of all the American people."

General Manager A. E. Mason protested the action but then left the office.

Letter To Truman

Premier Mohammed Mossadégh sent a letter to President Truman justifying nationalization of the AIOC. He said:

"The AIOC's actions in the past are seen as the reason for the nationalization.

"The Iranian government has stated many times that it wished wholeheartedly that the petroleum installations should continue to operate under British experts, but unfortunately we have learned they are going to close down the refineries by mass evacuation.

"In this event, although Iran had every intention of permitting the flow of oil to the west so that not even one drop would be diminished this move of the British workers may stop this flow.

"If so, the Iranian government will not be to blame. It has done everything in its power to fulfil its duties."

Troop Reinforcements

Meanwhile Tehran press reports said that Iranian troop reinforcements have been sent to Abadan as the result of the Mauritius' arrival. The Newspaper Atash said: "The landing of any British forces will be a painful and bloody experience for England."

There were signs of growing desperation in Iranian circles as British workers of the AIOC rejected Mossadegh's appeal that they work for the National Petroleum company and most neutral countries ignored Iran's appeal to send experts to replace the British.

Communists took quick advantage of the situation and their newspapers began to refer more openly to the availability of Soviet help.

NINE OF COUNCIL TO MEET MALIK AT FETE TONIGHT

Secretary General Konstantin Zinchenko, who is currently being used as a courier by Lie for relaying any communications he wants to bring to Malik's attention. The Russians are boycotting Lie since last February, when they opposed extension of his three-year term.

New Instructions Likely

Although Soviet actions are difficult to predict, most Security Council delegates believe that by tonight Malik will have some sort of new instructions from Moscow which will enable him to face the diplomats he has been evading.

He as much as told them yesterday his Saturday statement in a teleday he had nothing new beyond phone call to International News Service. Through his secretary, Malik authorized the following:

"Mr. Malik's spech on Saturday explains clearly his views on the Korean question."

This was in answer to an I.N.S. questionnaire which sought to learn whether Russia would participate in any Korean peace talks and whether the Communists still would demand Red China's admission to U.N. as conditions for a settlement, along with Communist control of Formosa.

Awaiting Instructions?

Leading diplomats who saw the questionnaire and Malik's answer were of the opinion he selected this method of telling them he had nothing new to say pending Moscow instructions. They believe, too, that the questionnaire broadly covers the questions asked by U.S. Ambassador Kirk in Moscow of Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

At U.N., the top officials under Secretary General Trygve Lie will press forward their consultations in an effort to map out a plan of procedure for a cease-fire in Korea if such seems possible.

A conference between Lie and Gross late yesterday made it clear that the United States is anxious to get a clearer picture of Russian intentions on Malik's statement before concrete moves in any direction are undertaken at U.N.

LARGE CROWD TAKES PART IN CATHOLIC DAY

Catholics in the world today—namely—the misrepresentation of the truths of Catholicism.

"Even dating to colonial history," the speaker said, "the record clearly shows that Catholics have contributed greatly toward American freedom. Catholics were always able to think and act for themselves without the aid of the hierarchy."

This above statemen was uttered in answer to the anti-Catholicism attitude evident in the recently published book, "American Freedom and Catholic Power," by Paul Blanshard.

"A mass of misinformation about Catholicism is published in this book," Dr. O'Neill declared emphatically, "and the pity of it is that laymen now, holding responsible positions, endorse the book which is just full of 'purle Blanshard double-talk'."

The speaker continued by stating that in summing up the book Blanshard insinuates that the hierarchy does not permit Catholics to speak for themselves. "This is ridiculous," he stated. "The book is filled with denunciations which have no support of any kind, nor any basis on which to stand. But," he warned, "the grave danger is that the book doesn't even for the sake of argument discuss Catholicism on a theological ground. Instead, it ridicules the practices and doctrine of the Catholic religion. And this is a volation of American principle and freedom."

Professor O'Neill was firm in his denunciation of Blanshard's statement that "Catholics cannot be sincere citizens of our republic."

Catholics Good Citizens

"Historical facts and figures disputes that statement," Dr. O'Neill said. "Even today statistics show that Catholics in both the House and the Senate are quite progressive. The general average of liberal voting is 71 per cent, while Congress as a whole averaged 31 per cent."

The speaker concluded, 'A constitutional democracy is the hope of America and the world. If today—in 1951—the Catholic foundation is undermined, the danger is graver than we think.

"The Catholic record in American history is known for its excellent high average. A change of this 'climate of suspicion' about the American Catholic is necessary if we are to enjoy American religious freedom. Catholics throughout the world hope and pray that the situation does not become worse. The Catholic truths are welcomed. It is up to the Catholic laymen and laywomen to do something about it. Voice the Catholic's truths—that is the answer."

Open With Prayer

Rev. Fr. C. H. Becker, pastor of St. Joseph's church opened the program at 7:30 p. m., with prayer. General chairman Joseph Hensley extended the welcome to the large crowd, and thanked all his committees who assisted.

Dom Cioffi, chairman of the speaker's program introduced the speaker. Rev. Fr. William Frawley of Bessemer gave the benediction.

A wonderful concert of both semi-classical and classical selections was given prior to the speaker's program by the Red Coat band. B. J. Biondi was the leader, and the platform was erected on the green lawn of the spacious park. A large crowd of music lovers attended. At 9 o'clock, dancing to a local orchestra, started in the beautiful Rainbow Terrace. An intermission at 10 o'clock enabled the crowd to witness the colorful display of fireworks. Special awards were made later at the bandstand.

Awards Are Given

Special awards made annually were captured this year by Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Pape of 235 East Lincoln avenue, who attended with their eight children—the largest family present. They received a $50 war bond and Catholic Bible. Mrs. Victoria Flynn, age 90—a year older than last year and again a winner, received a $25 war bond and Catholic Bible. She resides at 619 West Washington street. Attending the picnic from the greatest distance was Mrs. Mary Wentworth, of San Francisco, Calif.

Speaker Honored

At 5 o'clock, a dinner was tendered the honored guest and the Catholic day officers at Hotel New Penn. Father Becker gave the invocation. Members of the clergy of Lawrence county were also present. Among the clergy was the Rev. Fr. Thomas Kim, a Catholic priest of Korea, who at the time of outbreak of war in his country, was studying sociology at the Catholic University in Washington, D. C. Father Kim is temporarily assigned as assistant at St. Agatha's church, Ellwood City, Pa. He stated that his family in Pusan is safe, according to the latest word, and that 1% of the Korean population is Catholic.

Much Food Consumed

When all was completed and the kitchen crew rested their aching feet, statistics showed that sometime during the day, kiddies certainly had a field day. In fact they consumed 1,250 pounds of wieners; 1,000 dozen of buns, 12,000 Dixie ice cream cups; and 12,500 cups of pop—(six ounce size) or 600 cases of (small) pop. Hot dogs usually are flavored with condiments—and so—there were three cases of mustard (gallon size) used and four cases of Ketchup (gallon size). Adding that all up—there must be a lot of children who don't feel too well today. On hand to lend assistance were the Boy Scouts Troop 50 of the Ecclesian club. The First Aid Red Cross station reported that several minor cases were treated during the day. And of course the day wouldn't be complete without some little Mary or Johnny straying from the parents.

Officers Preside

Officers of the 1951 Catholic Day are: general chairman, Joseph R. Hensley; co-chairman, John M. Stoffick; secretary, Francis X. Brice; financial secretary, Leo Thompson, and treasurer, Francis Augostine.

Together with their committees they made it possible for this year's Catholic Day to be the best held in four years.

think a settlement of the year-old war in Korea should be worked out.

Gromyko was said to have replied that a cease-fire should be negotiated on the field by the commanders of the opposing forces.

The deputy foreign minister was said to have declared that he considered these leaders to be the field commanders of the North Korean forces and the Red Chinese "volunteers," on the one hand, and the head of the United Nations forces on the other.

First Step in Discussion

One source said Gromyko gave Kirk the impression Russia intended that the cease-fire talks be the first step in a series of discussions which would include the fate of Formosa and a seat for Communist China in the UN..

Acheson already has expressed the conviction in the past that "Communist China cannot buy a seat in the UN at gunpoint," and observers feel that if a cease-fire is conditioned on such talks, the United States would turn it down.

It was pointed out that the United Sates and other United Nations members were attracted to the original Soviet peace proposals because it appeared that the various Communist political demands had been dropped.

The Soviet plan is similar to one proposed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur some time ago in that it suggests that the opposing commanders negotiate a cease-fire on the field.

TV LICENSES

LONDON — (INS) — More than 825,000 Britons now hold $5.60 government licenses to operate television sets. An official announcement said that in previous years the sale of television licenses always declined after a Christmas peak but this year sales have continued at a high level. More than 250,000 new television licenses have been issued since the end of November, 1950.

ROCKS OF FREEDOM

The real spirit of America is that which treasures independence and human freedom. It is founded upon the rock of "self-evident truths" and "inalienable rights" first pronounced on July 4, 1776.

Those were abstract utterances but they were made substantial by the ensuing stuggle for independence. No nation ever achieves them fully, but the United States has come nearer to perfection than any other nation.

In many parts of the world there has for years been a pronounced drift away from individual rights. Freedom is not in the air in this era. The acceptance of expanded government authority over the lives of citizens—tyrannical authority in many instances—is manifest in so many countries that many Americans have become fearful of the ultimate outcome on these shores.

Materially, Americans have been the most successful of all peoples. The inalienable rights and self-evident truths distilled at Philadelphia 175 years ago are outstanding in America's spiritual stock. They have been assailed and threatened many times and will be again.

But only as America stands by them and lives them will it serve itself and remain a beacon in a world where liberty is threatened with a blanket of totalitarian tyranny.

AFTER 2,045,000 WORDS

With its final total of 2,045,000 words of testimony the MacArthur inquiry has come to an official end. It now awaits the verdicts—the reports—of elements of the joint senatorial committees. The forecast in respect to them is not encouraging. They will come in three batches—pro-MacArthur, pro-Truman and down the middle.

It is unlikely that the most masterly attempts of senators to analyze the vast mass of evidence will cut far through the clouds of discordant "facts" and opinions.

Most of us know now that the manner of relieving General MacArthur in the Far East was graceless and crude. We knew that when it happened. We now know better than we did, perhaps, that our Far East policies were obscure and subject to strange misconceptions, if not strange pressures.

What we do not know, in spite of those 2,045,000 words, is what our future policies in Asia are going to be. We are far from sure the State Department knows. On the last day General "Rosie" O'Donnell gave one hint that deserves wise and careful consideration when he asserted that Russia's ultimate aim is control of Japan.

Perhaps we have the matter in a favorable condition to prevent such a catastrophe. If the MacArthur inquiry has helped to foster firm, safe policies on the Japanese question it will have served at least one valuable purpose.

EXPENSIVE PESTS

The war between man and insects, a perennially popular topic with writers of fantastic fiction, many not be so fantastic as it once appeared to be.

Department of Agriculture experts have told a congressional committee that insects do about $4,000,000,000 worth of damage each year to crops, fabrics, wildlife, livestock, stored products, forests and men.

They told a House committee investigating chemicals that there are about 80,000 different kinds of insects, all in all, of which about 6,000 do active damage. In 1949 more than $200,000,000 was spent for various types of insecticide.

According to Rep. A. L. Miller (R), Nebraska, a member of the House committee on chemicals, grasshopper sprays alone saved farmers an estimated $72,000,000 last year.

Miller said this was a saving of $55 for each one dollar spent to kill the grasshoppers. He warned gravely that "in the future it looks like we must continue to kill these pests or go hungry."

PSYCHOLOGICAL STRATEGY

One of the most difficult tasks confronting any organization of the government is that the Psychological Strategy Board, just created by President Truman, with Gordan Gray, president of the Universittey of North Caroline and former secretary of the army, as its director.

With reference to the Voice of America, the new board will have a serious problem of differentiating, so far as emphasis is concerned, on how its powerful radio stations shall approach individual countries behind the Iron Curtain as well as potential allies outside it.

Besides pulling together and coordinating the work of governmental agencies, assuring singleness of purpose and no overlapping of functions, the Psychological Strategy Board will be concerned both about the enemies within the country and about confidence at home in its own performance. For are not we all as individuals part of "the national phychological effort?"

Familiar Picture Reappears

The once familiar picture of a British cruiser or battleship steaming at forced draft to a trouble-spot was revived with the sleek Mauritius on its way from Bahrein island in the Persian Gulf to the port of Abadan with her guns unmasked.

British Foreign Secretary Morrison's decision to send the 8,000-ton cruiser to the focal point of oil-rich Iran was loudly cheered in the house of commons.

But leftwing forces opposed it and Morrison, anxious not to alienate the extremist wing of his Labor party, must have heard extremely disquieting news.

The action had one immediate effect, however, which may or may not prove to be an important factor.

One Result Seen

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, the ghostly-appearing premier who elected to gamble the fate of his country and perhaps the entire Middle East on an oil nationalization plan that Britain regarded as a shambles before it even began, issued a statement promising the safety of foreign workers.

He said they have nothing to fear regarding either their lives or their property. The price he demands is their allegiance to the new government-controlled National Petroleum company—a fee that no competent British official or expert seems likely to pay.

The fact that Morrison took drastic action at a moment when the world is still submerged in a wave of speculation over Jacob A. Malik's peace proposal for Korea underlines the gravity of the situation.

Prepared To Challenge

There is every sign that Britain now is prepared to challenge Mossadegh and even risk the loss of Iranian oil rather than see British prestige lowered any further.

It appears that Anglo-Iranian Oil company officials have become incensed over a government law accusing them of "sabotage" unless they respect the restrictions imposed by the National company.

This is a charge that in Iran is as serious as anywhere else. It doubtless is enough to agitate the fanatics and hotheads in Iran who are taking every advantage of the confused situation to incite the populace.

There is good reason for British indignation over the sabotage charge.

Like any other imperial or colonial undertaking, the AIOC is a source of immense pride to the men who built this great project out of muddy delta and to their families, who braved hardships, intense heat, the risk of disease and absence of creature comforts to take part in the $900 million development.

Think They Are Justified

They think they are justified in feeling that Iran should be grateful to them and can present some highly convincing arguments to this effect.

The trouble is that enormous losses may have to be suffered in proving their point.

If the Mauritius' bristling guns merely cover a peaceful evacuation—that is, if the British throw up their hands and walk out in face of an untenable situation, the Iranian government has only this alternative:

To import foreign experts who will carry on the refining business for the benefit of all the world, or turn the oil fields, voluntarily or otherwise, over to aggressive communism, which will mean the loss of Iranian sovereignty and an end to trade with the West.

There is no doubt as to Britain's need for Iranian oil.

But there still is Iraq, the ancient Mesopotamia, as well as Saudi Arabia and Venezuela.

Presumably, Britain would have to pay a far higher price to these nations for petroleum than the Iranians received in past royalties.

But a barter deal might be possible, and these countries might be willing to make certain readjustments in Britain's favor if it appeared likely that Iran was destined to come under Soviet control, shifting the precarious balance in the Middle East.

In any case, the British government is going to protect its own people, as it always has done when humanly possible in the past.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

INSPIRE CHILDREN TO SEEK HIGHER GOALS

When we came across a person who was a childhood schoolmate and playmate we have not seen for many years, we naturally exchange information on the whereabouts and achievements of our mutual schoolmates. As either of us names one who has gained considerable distinction, the other may say that he was always smart at school or that he was a leader or go-getter there. Sometimes the one we once supposed would get farthest, never did achieve. Another of those old playmates may have amazed us at the heights he has attained.

Native ability or the lack of it, as we had guessed, has not nearly always been the determining factor. Ambition seems to rank very high, especially ambition in the person with average or above average native ability. And where did the ambition come from? We can't always ascertain. Apparently it comes from parents, relatives, teachers and other persons whom the growing child admires.

Inspire Ambition

We parents often overlook the ambition inspired in many children by grandparents, aunts and uncles who have won these children's esteem, and held attractively before these younger persons what they might become. How many of the greatest men and women of the world might never have been heard of but for the ambition inspired in them by one or all of these relatives? Consider, too, the influence of neighbors, of one or more teachers or of a club leader.

Most often ambition is inspired in a child by members of his own family, even though none of them may have had much formaal education. An older or younger sister or brother with no more than a sixth grade education may have done more than any other person to cause a brother or sister to strive to become a teacher, doctor, lawyer, clergyman, inventor, engineer, artist, college professor, modern farmer, business leader, community builder.

Higher Goals

Consider the parents who, in the face of all sorts of personal limitations, especially in material goods, point the way to higher and higher goals in education and self-improvement in their sans and daughters. Sme of these parents, feeling their own lack in education, are powerful in firing their children with ambition. Often, however, parents with considerable education, but lacking in money, can make higher learning goals attractive to their children. A striking example is the average clergyman and his wife. What a large proportion of their children go to college and make "Who's Who in America", yet how little of this world's goods these families have.

Think of all the bright boys and girls who next September will take a job instead of finishing high school or entering college, from homes of economic comfort, but in want of lofty goals for these children. Not strange that these youths should want to earn in order to have a car and fancy clothes and luxurious amusements, if they have not breathed and consumed over the years in their families an ambition to make the most of themselves.

Firing our children with ambition presupposes ambition in ourselves for them and their genuine and lasting esteem for us. Where our hearts are, there will our treasure be.

PALE-FACE CHIEF

Bonnet, feathered, green and red,
Big Chief placed upon my head.
Held the peace pipe to his mouth,
Pointed to the north and south,
East and west, then gently spoke:
"Welcome, Pale Face! Now you smoke."

Smiled the princesses and squaws
Of the noble Ottawas
As the ceremonial brife
Made me honorable Chief.
All have Indian names to sign:
"A-So-Ke-Ninie" is mine.

If, by Indians, pride's allowed,
A-So-Ke-Ninie is proud.
Proud to have his children see
Him in Indian finery,
Feathered bonnet, beaded brow.
Proud to hear them greet him:
"How!"

In 1945 he accepted the post of president of the Motion Picture association of America, Inc. He was a member of the Economic Development committee under Paul G. Hoffman during World War II, and also a member of the War Manpower commission, and the Committee for Drafting of Federal Employes. OLD CHINA HAND?

Passport Photographs

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

In a few weeks we'll be off for South America, with the first stop Port Au Prince, Trinidad, the second Belem, Brazil, the third Rio, the fourth Montevideo, the fifth B.A., the sixth Santiago, the seventh Lima, and the eighth· well, we'll figure that out from Lima.

The first paragraph (the one just above) is an introduction to the photographers who make passport photographs.

Where do they come from? I have always wondered.

They are a race apart.

They may be the offspring of the the Neanderthal man. They may be the direct descendants of the missing link. They may be solid American citizens who are completely different.

Our passport was not able to hold any more stamps. It had been renewed and filled up.

'Get Millions of Pictures'

So we had to get a new one.

We went to Rockefeller Center, second floor, passport division.

The man in charge, once he knew we were going to South America, told us to have millions of pictures made.

"We are all in the western hemisphere," he said, "and all of us are pledged to fight for it, but suspicion exists down there. They may not love us, but they want to have pictures of us."

So Jean and I went to a passport picture taker.

I had on my best suit, my best shirt, and my nicest tie. Jean had on her best dress ($38.76, plus $4 for alterations).

The photographer told us to wait a minute. My guess is that he asked for the minute in order to learn photography.

Afer a little wait of an hour or so, he told us he was ready.

We sat down on a bench and felt foolish.

The photog told me to turn my head a bit to the right—that the government wanted a profile.

I didn't say anything, but I thought it must be a silly government, indeed, that wanted my profile.

The man shot off his camera.

We were told to wait a bit for the picture.

We Felt Very Bad

When we saw them we felt very bad.

The tie that I had saved up in order to buy looked like the loose end of a buggy whip. Jean's dress, for which we had saved for months, looked exactly like a $12 dress.

My profile looked like the profile of an ironing board.

I am not at all sure that we will be accepted as human beings when the custom people look at our pictures. I would be willing to bet that the Englishmen at Trinidad will impound us and send us to the Royal Geographical Society as rare specimens of underwater life.

My passport eyes were square. Jean's eyes were diamond shaped.

How do passport photographers wind up with such results? I don't know. And I'll bet even money that they don't.

They are amazing, though. And now many of us are amazing.

By Walter Kiernan

The 2,045,000 words of testimony in the MacArthur hearings will make a nice addition to the files of forgotten hearings as soon as the final report is in.

The only undisputed facts at the end of the hearing are that MacArthur is still inactive and the Commies are still active.

Only two suggestions for ending the war have been made. . . . MacArthur's suggestion to win it and Malik's suggestion to call it a draw.

Malik is getting a little more attention with his proposal.

Anyway Mr. Truman says he is sick of smears and slander . . . Quite a few citizens feel the same way and we all look forward to a a change.

There is a large group of citizens that feel politics can be conducted at the sidewalk level without falling off the curb and we will continue optimistic.

This does not mean that we are willing to abandon a single thing for which we stand . . . and we stand for plenty.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

There's a neat twist in this story of Sam Levenson's. A cloak and suit manufacturer, obviously born abroad, was taunted on his Americanism by a bigoted blue-blood. "What kind of American are you, after all?" sneered the blue-blood. "Why, my ancestors came over on the Mayflower." The cloak and suit man, unperturbed, replied, "Maybe it's luck they did. By the time I arrived, the immigration laws were a lot stricter."

Gertrude Lawrence was starring in a London play that was honored by a visit from the King and Queen. As Queen Elizabeth entered the Royal Box, the entire audience arose to acclaim her. Miss Lawrence Watching from the wings, murmured, "What an entrance!" Noel Coward, on tiptoe behind her, added, "What a part!"

A fading actress complained to Critic George Jean Nathan, "I don't see why the manager won't offer me a decent part. I'm only approaching forty. "Yes, my dear," agreed Natham, "but from which direction?"

PEST REMOVER

NEW YORK, (INS)—If you don't like to use strips of cloth and paper to keep birds and pests away from your victory garden, try sidetracking the raiders by planting some foods they enjoy most and you enjoy least. Commercial fruit growers often plant June berries and Mulberries near their orchards. Birds will gorge themselves on these and tend to leave apricots and other fruits alone. And a few gourds will help keep beetles away from cucumbers.

Do you fish? Do you play golf . . . well if you don't do either you probably have some sport that will fit the idea. In fishing and golfing it is often the misfortune to lose an article of importance . . . if not important, then expensive. A new plug that was recommended by some "expert" as being the thing to catch a muskie . . . or the bass can't resist this lure . . . and the cost, while a little high, will give you great satisfaction. So you buy the plug and put it with some others that cost one third as much and which you have been carrying around since your first fishing trip.

* * *

If you play golf about the same happens . . . balls are expendable but you keep on buying expensive high flying ones . . . that don't fly at all when you lift your head . . . but along the way some place . . . either from force or disgustion . . . you buy some cheap old balls, repaints . . . and then the story goes the same.

* * *

The expensive artificial bait and the high flying high price golf ball . . . seem to have a way of getting away. The plug catches on a snag on the lake bottom and just won't work lose . . . and the low score ball goes and hides itself in the tall grasses of the rough. There you are . . . and what happens to the tackle that you have been carrying around and which you purchased at the dime store . . . and the repaint balls and the ones you bought from the hanger-ons of the golf course . . . They are still in your possession . . . Can't lose 'em for anything. Good old reliable you say . . . like a friend . . . that's always there. Never buy anything again . . . But come next season . . . or a new tackle shop on a new lake . . . or a different golf course . . . Your resistance goes low. After all you're not a piker.

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

Easier To Start Wars

WASHINGTON, June 28.—As history has shown again and again, it is always easier to start wars than to stop them. And that is particularly true in our time when the passions and prejudices of the mass of the people have so much to do with the decisions taken by the diplomats and the soldiers.

Wars have ended through sheer exhaustion with whole peoples reduced to grubbing like animals in the earth. World War II ended with the unconditional surrender of the enemy, which meant pulverization beyond the point of further resistance.

The Big Question

Now Soviet Russia has delivered through Jacob Malik what appears to be an invitation to discuss an end to the fighting in Korea. The big question then is whether the United States is prepared to negotiate if Communist China, with this face-saving assist from Russia, shows even a half halfway reasonableness. Beyond the termination of the conflict itself, however, is the larger question of whether peace in Asia is possible.

The immediate backdrop of the MacArthur inquiry seems to rule out any definitive and final "yes" in answer to the larger question. Especially instructive in this connection is the testimony of Secretary Dean Acheson.

Acheson before the committee of inquiry was like a brilliant trial lawyer taking a doubtful case before a suspicious jury. As a skilled professional operation it was a superb example of the kind of talent for which big corporations pay large fees.

Broad Policy Statements

But in the course of carrying the day for his client—in this instance, himself—Lawyer Acheson put some broad policy statements on the record that cannot be ignored. He said that the future of Formosa was not negotiable and that the United States intended to do everything possible to help the Nationalist Chinese to hold it. As though to underscore that declaration, on April 20 the announcement was made that an American military mission was being sent to Formosa under Major General William Curtis Chase. This mission is now building up to 600 officers and men and shipments of military equipment have been markedly increased.

Lawyer Acheson said there was no intention of allowing Communist China to replace Nationalist China in the United Nations. It was rather strongly hinted that the veto might even be used to prevent this from happening.

May Have Closed Door

So before the jury Acheson was chaste and pure, his motives as noble as those who had been accusing him of "appeasement." But it is possible that this record has closed the door on any settlement of the basic causes of conflict for at least as long as Acheson is secretary of state with the backing of President Truman. Significantly, Truman in his Tennessee speech after discussing the failure of Chiang Kai-Shek to make effective use of American aid while fighting the Communists on the mainland added:

"We are continuing to give aid to the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa, and that aid will be effective if they are now willing to do their part."

What "do their part" may mean is anyone's surmise. Likewise, the President's reference to a "peaceful settlement" in Korea is no more than a repetition of earlier generalizations.

Conditions Not Laid Down

Much has been made of the fact that in the few sentences he devoted to a Korean cease-fire Malik did not lay down conditions. In the body of his speech, however, he repeated the familiar litany of charge and countercharge—that the "People's Republic of China" is the only true government of China, that the United States in unlawfully keeping this governments from possession of Formosa, etc., etc., etc. The Peiping regime in endorsing the Malik proposal does exactly the same thing. While this may be no more than the ritual language of Communist diplomacy, it seems nevertheless a poor preface to negotiation.

In the welter of the news an achievement of American diplomacy has somewhat been lost sight of. That is the success of John Foster Dulles in reconciling so many different interests, both abroad and at home, to get agreement on a Japanese peace treaty. It has been no easy task to convince America's allies of the need to give up short-term advantages in reparations and trade for the long-term goal of Japan's economic stabilization.

Treaty To Be Signed

Dulles believes the Japanese treaty will be signed by the end of the summer. If the Korean war is then concluded, the Japanese people will be started down the long road toward independent statehood again.

But if the basic sources of conflict remain—if Communist China is out of the U.N., if the arming of Chiang Kai-Shek continues, if no more than an uneasy truce prevails in Korea, we should have no illusions about the treaty. It may lessen but it will not bring an end to America's responsibilities for sustaining the Japanese economy since the maintenance of Japanese independence, both miiltary and economic, will be the keystone of the American position in Asia.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Usually when a writer or a speaker wants to prove his point he quotes from the classics.

Or if no classic, such as Shakespeare, Plato, Voltaire or Goethe is available for his particular purpose, then he resorts to the Bible.

I am certainly no exception to this statement.

The reason is not just mental laziness or lack of thinking power. It is more or less because we take it for granted that when something has become a "classic", it must be right.

While that is certainly not so, I won't discuss that point today, since I am about to quote a classic myself right at this moment.

The writer is not known. He certainly was no mental giant. But he knew what he was talking about.

I quote from "Hallelujah, I'm a Bum", which, when I was a young newspaper reporter, was the marching song of thousands of tramps who then infested California, Washington, Oregon and other western states.

I heard it first when I was assigned to cover a murder in a hobo camp.

It was night and the hoboes were sitting around the campfire over which their "slumgullion" was cooking—a stew of which they invited me to participate, since I was dressed like a hobo and had been instructed to act like one.

The "slumgullion" was an awful mess of things these hoboes had collected, heaven knows where. But I must confess that it tasted better than other stews which I later ate in expensive restaurants and which, on the menus, was called "Ragout Deutsch".

While the mess was brewing over the fire the fellows were singing—or rather chanting.

It was weird. It was frightening, ominous.

This is the verse I remember:

"Oh, why don't you save
All the money you earn?
If I didn't have to eat
I'd have money to burn."

Somehow, all this comes back to me today, because I just got through talking to the head of one of the savings banks.

He complained that people didn't seem to save as much as they used to.

He couldn't tell why. Savings banks were so safe, he said. Nobody had ever lost a nickel by the failure of a savings bank.

What did I think is the reason why they don't save as much as they used to? Did they put their money in stocks? Did they buy government bonds?

So I quoted from the song I had heard in that California hobo camp:

"If I didn't have to eat
"I'd have money to burn."

Then I told him that in my opinion the best economists in the world are the WIVES.

Don't just read government reports. I advised him. Don't put too much faith in statistics. Don't try to be too scientific.

Ask any housewife what she

Youth To Pay With Life For Murder Of Florida Officer

MOBILE, Ala., June 28—(INS)—Harris Mullis, 23, awaited transfer to death row today after being convicted of the murder of a Florida constable who had said, "There is no such thing as a bad boy."

Mullis, of Pasadena, Cal., listened without a sign of emotion yesterday to the death sentence pronounced by Judge David H. Eddington.

The jury took only one hour and 43 minutes to reach the guilty verdict.

The constable, Luther Hardison, of Coral Gables, Fla., was returning the youth from California to Florida to face auto theft charges. His bullet-riddled body was found on the outskirts of Mobile, February 17.

Mullis, on the trip, was not handcuffed and was permitted to drive part of the way by Hardison who often said there were no bad boys.

The execution has been set for August 10. Under Alabama law, first degree murder convictions carrying the death penalty are automatically reviewed by the State Supreme Court.

Divorce Settlement Of Nearly Million Dollars Is Awarded

CLEVELAND, June 28—(INS)—Mrs. Ina Mae Stouffer, wife of an official of the nationally-known Stouffer restaurant chain, has been awarded a divorce settlement of nearly one million dollars.

She was awarded the divorce from Cleveland restaurateur Gordon Stouffer yesterday in Cuyahoga county common pleas court on the ground of gross neglect of duty. Stouffer, 46, is vice-president of the restaurant chain.

Attractive Mrs. Stouffer told Judge Julius Kovachy her husband indulged in "heavy drinking three or four days a week."

The settlement, which is believed one of the largest in the country, calls for alimony of $300,000, insurance totaling $115,000, and full ownership of certain stocks believed worth $360,000 to $420,000.

The Stouffers were married Feb. 22, 1930, and divorced two years later. They were remarried March 7, 1937.

Five West Point football coaches arrived in the Far East command in June to conduct a series of GI coaches clinics.

Tornado Hits Illinois Towns

HARTSBURG, Ill., June 28. — (INS) — Rescue workers today counted one man dead and at least 28 persons injured in the wake of a tornado which cut a wide swath across central Illinois last night, causing property damage estimated in the thousands of dollars.

The violent storm struck the towns of Warrensburg, Atlanta, Hartsburg and Williamsville, ripping porches from houses, knocking down trees and severing communications lines.

Heaviest hit was Hartsburg, where 24 persons were injured, some seriously. Four other casualties were reported to have been sent to the Decatur and Macon County Hospital.

A farmer, identified as William J. Aggi, was stricken by a heart attack while assisting a neighbor clear away debris from his farm about eight miles northwest of Lincoln.

Heavy Damage In Two Ohio Towns Due To Violent Winds

URBANA, O., June 28.—(INS)—Damage caused by a violent wind storm which injured four persons in two central Ohio towns is expected today to run into thousands of dollars.

Houses and business places and a church in the area around Urbana and St. Paris were damaged late last night by the wind storm described by residents as a "small tornado".

Officials at the Vandalia airport, southwest of the storm-damaged area, told the state highway patrol that winds reached 80 miles an hour at 12:46 a. m. today.

The state highway patrol said the extent of the damage has not been determined. The small town of St. Paris, 12 miles west of Urbana, suffered the heaviest damage in the big wind accompanied by a heavy rain and lightning.

Man On Trial In Twin Slaying

RIVERSIDE, Cal., June 28. — (INS) — The prosecution today planned to introduce as evidence a detailed chart of the Richard Cook murder scene in the trial of Air Force Supply Sergeant Lawrence Walker.

Walker, who is charged with the twin slayings of Cook and his wife Doris, both 18, last March 26, sat stolidly in court yesterday while a parade of witnesses trooped to the stand.

The prosecution is attempting to show that Cook's slayer sidewiped his car then abducted Mrs. Cook, whose body was found two days later 11 miles from where her husband was discovered.

Governor Warren Of Florida Challenges Senator Kefauver

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 28. — (INS) — Florida's Gov. Fuller Warren today issued a 28-page statement attacking Sen. Estes Kefauver, charging the Tennessee Democrat "perverted and prostituted the chairmanship of the Senate crime investigating committee to promote himself for president."

Today's statement was the latest development in the running battle between the governor and the crime committee. It contained few new charges, but did include Kefauver on an earlier invitation to debate nationwide gambling in Miami July 7.

The handsome Florida chief executive—a master of the expletive and epithet—at present is under subpoena to appear before the crime committee July 9 in Washington. The crime probers want him to testify about out-of-state gangster infiltration in Florida, possible campaign contributions by gamblers, lax enforcement of gambling laws and related subjects.

Sherman, who boarded the Seventh Fleet flagship Wednesday for a tour of combat waters, watched as gun crews silenced the Red batteries on the shore of the east North Korean port.

Wonsan has been under continuous naval siege for 133 days.

OVER NORTH KOREA—When this C-47 flare-plane of the Fifth Air Force's 67th Tactical Reconnaissance Wing reaches the desired position over enemy targets in North Korea, a powerful flare will drop through the chute and cover a wide span of countryside with brilliant illumination. This will enable other tactical fighters and light bombers of the Fifth Air Force to locate and attack enemy vehicle convoys, trains, troop and supply concentrations with their deadly cargos of bombs, napalm and .50 caliber ammunition. S/Sgt. Nick T. Parrett, (left) New Castle, sets the altitude device on a flare while S/Sgt. Grady H. Holley, Jr., Bay City, Mich., awaits word from the pilot to release the flare. Sgt. # Lassoes Waving Arm Of Man Who Made Plunge Into River

CHICAGO, June 28.—(INS)—An alert bridgetender told today how he lassoed the waving arm of a man who plunged into the Chicago river.

Bridgetenders James Flannery, 39, and Verne Hora, 28, ran to the water wtih a life preserver when they saw Otilio Vega, 44, jump into the water.

When Vega ignored the preserver, Flannery made a noose from its rope and lassoed Vega's arm as he was being swept under the bridge in the next block.

Police ordered Vegas taken to Psychopathic hospital after he was treated by a physician.

Bull Was Sick, Buyer Claims

Claims Animal Sick When Bought

Walter Sarver of Allegheny county claims a Hereford bull he bought at the New Wilmington auction on January 29, 1951, was diseased when he bought it.

He has entered a suit for $161.60 against John Shelter of Lawrence county asking for his money back.

The plaintiff claims the bull was suffering with lymphositosis or leukemia. At the time of the sale he claims there was no evidence of the illness and it was advertised as being a healthy animal. When he found evidence of the disease he had the bull destroyed.

Preston-Smith Quiet Ceremony

Today's Fashion Flash

NEW YORK, June 28.—(INS)—To have naturally curly-looking hair, all a woman needs is $2.50, an infra-red lamp and a haircut on the bias!

This is the technique of a pair of Philadelphia stylists—Vincent and Joseph Pileggi—who developed the "lamp pruning" technique, by which a woman can prune her hair as she'd prune her plants... for stronger, healthier results.

The Pileggis have patented their technique and will license it to selected hairdressers throughout the country, starting today.

In essence, the technique is this: The hair is dampened, then cut on a dipping bias, along the lines of a woman's natural or permanent wave. While it's being cut, an infro-red lamp dries the hair oils into the natural curl line.

The "lamp cut", which may soon be a home practice for the average woman, gives anyone with tendency-to-curl hair a natural-looking wave which lasts five to six weeks. Its charm lies in its short treatment (takes only one-half hour) and price (less than the average wave set).

Former Local Man United With Bride

A former New Castle man, Joe Loccisano has been united once more with his Italian bride after a nine month passport difficulty was untangled permitting the young lady to arrive in this country.

Joe was married to a comely Italian lass named Rosa in Italy, last August after a three year's courtship by mail brought about by a strange "story book like" circumstance.

While residing in New Castle, Joe was reading a lost letters column in a publication. He noted a letter addressed to him and claimed the letter although it was intended for an uncle of his bride of nine months.

Opening the letter, a picture fluttered to the floor. Joe saw that the owner of the letter having the same name as his got the message but he kept the pieture.

Correspondence developed into a romance which ended last August in a wedding in Italy. Joe returned to the States but his new bride remained due to passport difficulties.

The couple are with Joe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Loccisano of North Knoll Drive, Hollywood, Calif. The new Mrs. Loccisano is a designer and a model by profession.

Strike in Seven Major Bakeries In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, June 28.—(INS)—A shutdown of the bread and other baked goods supply to Pittsburgh households was threatened today by a strike at seven of the Steel City's major bakeries.

Some 3,000 members of local 12 of the AFL Bakery and Confectionary workers union quit work last midnight in a surprise walkout.

The union stated that the plants were struck to enforce demands for a new wage contract after expiration of the 30-day strike notice required under the Taft-Hartley act.

The struck bakeries include George E. Drake, Liberty, Bauer, Braun, Ward and National Baking company.

A management spokesman said he expects a shortage of bread to develop directly.

LAWRENCE COUNTY FARM .. MOST CALVES REACT NEGATIVELY TO TEST

Over 95 per cent of the calves vaccinated for brucellosis control within the recommended age limits (6 to 8 months old) return to a negative reaction by the time they are 24 months old.

However, some animals vaccinated as calves will show "slightly suspicious" or "highly suspicious" to the blood agglutination test after they are over 24 months of age. These animals, at the present time, are not regarded as positive, infected animals. The bureau of Animal Industry asks that they be isolated and retested within 30 to 60 days just to guard against the possibility of the animals having picked up some infection that the Strain 19 vaccine will not stop.

At the State Brucellosis Committee meeting in Harrisburg in March a resolution was passed asking the U. S. Livestock Sanitary Association to discontinue the 1:25 and 1:50 dilution tests on vaccinated animals. It is in these low dilutions that the "highly" and "slightly suspicious" reactions show up on animals vaccinated as calves.

Calf vaccination is a valuable tool for cattle owners to use against Bovine Brucellosis (Bang's Disease) infection. However, it is a new tool that cattle owners must learn how to use properly. They may have to learn how to live with suspicious animals until a new test is developed for vaccinated animals. Research work on this problem is now in progress.

TIPS ON BUYING PINEAPPLE

Size has little to do with flavor of pineapple. Square-shouldered fruits are more economical than long, tapering ones. Color and odor determine the quality of pineapple. A ripe pineapple has a coppery-orange skin color, a fragrant odor, flat eyes, and leaves which pull out easily. Fruit with soft spots or sour odor is spoiled.

You may pare a pineapple either before or after slicing. Following the contour of the fruit in paring cuts waste to a minimum. A thorough washing with a scrub brush is the first step in paring a pineapple.

GUARD WOOLS FROM MOTH DAMAGE

Proper care and attention when storing wool clothing during warm weather will help to reduce the damage caused by clothes moths. New chemicals are available to help control this destructive household insect.

Here are a few tips for storing woolens: Never store wool clothing that is not spotlessly clean. Garments that do not need dry cleaning or washing should be hung in the sunlight and brushed thoroughly to remove all lint from seams, pockets, and folds.

After cloths have been dry cleaned, washed, or aired, put them in mothproof chests, closets, or in sealed boxes or bags to keep them free from moths. Sprinkle moth crystals between folds of the garments or spray with a moth preventive for added protection. Spray well under collars, in seams, and pockets; if you skip a spot when you spray a garment, moths are sure to find it.

Closets and shelves where you put the boxes or garment bags must be clean. You can do a thorough spraying job in a few minutes. However, moth sprays are not effective for very long if the closet is opened many times. You may need to use the spray every few weeks.

Frequently inspect garments that are not worn during the summer to be certain that moths do not make a surprise attact.

USE DINING ROOM FOR WORK AND PLAY

By shifting the furniture, you can add hours to the usefulness of your dining room.

Try putting the dining table against a wall and so it gets light from a window on the left. Use this large flat surface as a daytime area for writing or sewing. Should you need the table for dining, whisk your sewing or writing to a cupboard and put easily washed place mats and colorful summer dishes on the table.

If displays of seldom used china crowd your buffet and china closet, take them to the attic. Use the space they occupied for a set of luncheon dishes, writing and sewing supplies, games and books, and records. Move the record player into this room. Small rugs on the floor are easy to clean. When writing or sewing is planned for night work, you will need more light than that furnished by the central fixture. A floor lamp with a swinging arm will be just right for your close work.

Seeks Correction Of Injustices To Reserves In Service

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(INS)—Rep. Brooks (D) La., on Wednesday demanded the defense department give the house armed services committee a bill designed to "correct some of the injustices and abuses" that reserves have been subject to since the start of the Korean war.

Brooks read a letter from a naval reservist who asked him what congress hoped to gain "by retaining a group of bitter, discouraged and disgusted reserves on active duty."

Brooks said the reserve components policy board filed a bill with the defense department after a long study of reserve problems.

The Louisianan, who is second ranking Democrat on the armed services committee, said he had requested the bill several times but without results.

Brooks said: "No other dispute or controversy in the armed forces has caused as much bitterness as has the handling of the reserves since the beginning of the Korean war a year ago."

Pennsylvania Leads Nation In Rural Dwellers

HARRISBURG, June 28.—The State Planning Board, Department of Commerce, today said U. S. Census reports show that Pennsylvania has moved into first place among the states in rural population, with a total of 3,084,045 farm and non-farm dwellers in country districts.

In 1950 the U. S. Census adopted a new and more inclusive definition of urban population which now includes among city dwellers, those who live in incorporated places of 2,500 or more, in urban areas surrounding cities of 50,000 or more, and in all unincorporated places of 2,500 inhabitants in the vicinity of cities. The old definition of urban population did not include many densely settled suburban areas, nor the large unincorporated places not associated with big cities. Under the old definition, Pennsylvania's rural population totaled 3,578,642 in 1950, as compared with 3,313,303 in 1940, an increase of eight per cent.

With two among the Nation's largest cities, and more small cities than any other state, Pennsylvania can justly claim to have the best distributed population in the Nation, the State Planning Board of the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce said.

Send Broilers To Costa Rica

Two Americans In New Venture

WASHINGTON, June 28—(INS)—Two Americans have brought the first commercial production of broilers to the South American nation of Costa Rica.

The Agriculture Department reports the company they formed plans to supply three-months-old broilers for the Panama Canal zone and the Costa Rican markets. Eventually they will enter other Latin American markets.

How are they doing it? Day old chicks are imported by air from the United States. They are fed imported feeds, mixed locally by the firm. Then the chicks are raised under conditions equal to those on many American poultry farms.

At two to three and a half pounds they are killed, then plucked and cleaned by machine, quick frozen and sealed in cellophane.

Agriculture officials say the firm should find a ready market for their birds and it might even be able to compete with U. S. exports of broilers to other South American countries. Those exports were valued at more than $3 million dollars last year.

---

Agriculture officials say stocks of most canned vegetables on grocery shelves are about the same as last year. However, they point out supplies of commercially canned tomatoes and corn are expected to be somewhat smaller until new packs come in.

Specialists say that families with a sizable home garden might well step up their home canning of these two vegetables.

They are emphasizing tomatoes particularly. That's because home gardeners usually grow a good supply. Tomatoes do not freeze well, yet they can easily be home canned, with no need for a steam pressure canner.

All in all, the government experts say corn and tomatoes are two of the best bets for the industrious home canner.

Michigan State college poultry experts say that summer is the best time of the year to make the top dollar from a laying flock.

Most poultrymen become more interested in good management when prices reach their peak in the fall. But actually, the price of eggs usually starts to rise in the summer months. If farmers can keep hens laying at a high rate, the eggs can be produced at a much lower cost.

The Michigan experts say the summer feeding program is simple, but important. They urge poultrymen to keep their ration properly balanced for protein, vitamins and minerals.

To keep the laying hen in good production, they give this advice: Think about the percent of fibre in the concentrated ration.

Protein is important and 18 or 20 percent protein laying mashes are common. But during the winter 15 to 16 percent protein intake is recommended. During spring and summer farmers can raise the protein to 16 or 17 percent. The laying mash should be regulated by varying the amount of scratch grain.

Other recommendations are to feed scratch grain later in the day so the hens have plenty of chance to eat mash earlier, and provide plenty of room at the feeders. Sixteen to twenty feet for every 100 birds is suggested.

Economy Drive Being Planned By Republicans

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(INS)—Republicans plan to launch an economy drive today as the house begins consideration of a resolution which allows the government to spend money after the 1951 fiscal year ends Saturday.

The resolution is necessary because congress has not yet passed any of the regular appropriation bills. Four hours of debate are scheduled on the measure.

Four targets are listed by the Republicans who hope to enlist the support of a self-styled "wrecking crew", composed of southern Democrats. Rep. Halleck (R) Ind., disclosed three proposed reductions and Rep. Wigglesworth (R) Mass., added a fourth. They are:

1. Slice state department funds as a slap at Secretary of State Dean Acheson.
2. Cut foreign aid funds.
3. Adopt the so-called Jensen amendment which limits the number of federal employes that can be replaced.
4. Adopt the flat 10 per cent cut which the senate has approved for some of the appropriation bills.

Normally, congress finishes work on at least some of the appropriation bills before the June 30 deadline. However, the press of business the past few years has made the continuing resolutions necessary.

This is the first time in recent years a fight has occurred on a resoultion.

Expect Nuzum To Take Witness Stand In Own Defense

LAS CRUCES, N. M., June 28.—(INS)—Professional football player Jerry Nuzum is expected to testify in his own defense today in his trial for the 1949 murder of a pretty 18-year-old Las Cruces waitress.

The state is scheduled to finish its case this morning—third day of the trial—and then Nuzum, a Pittsburgh Steeler halfback, and his wife Mary, 25, will take the stand as the only defense witnesses.

Nuzum, who has maintained a confident air throughout the trial, is charged with murder and manslaughter in the death of Ovida "Cricket" Coogler, whose body was found in a sand hill grave two years ago.

At yesterday's session, a prominent New Mexico criminologist, Dr. Dwight W. Rife, took the stand to testify that there were traces of human blood in particles found clinging to the underside of the athlete's car.

Army Says Term 'GI' Is Out Henceforth

NEW YORK, June 28.—(INS)—The army says the term "GI" is out henceforth. The correct term to be used by army personnel is "soldier".

These instructions were issued to all army public relations officers but it was emphasized it was not intended to curb press or radio use of the word GI. It was intended to keep information officers from slipping into the slang term.

The order said "Make no further use of the slang expression GI... All references to a man of the army should identify him primarily as a soldier. Webster's dictionary defined a soldier as 'skilled warrior' and never before in history has a soldier so richly deserved this definition."

Good Progress Being Made On Addition To Jameson Hospital

Good progress is being made on the new wing to the Jameson Memorial hospital, which will cost in the neighborhood of a million dollars.

After completion of the excavation for the new addition, which was a difficult job, due to the fact that stone was encountered, and it was impossible to blast this out, the concrete foundation is now being poured.

The area outside the hospital is a beehive of activity as the work progresses, and parking is at a premium at the present time. However, a large area west of the hospital has been leveled off with dirt and stone taken from the excavation, which will be turned into a parking lot in the near future.

Expect Verdict By Nightfall In Trial Of Chas. E. Homeyer

TUNKHANNOCK, Pa., June 28.—(INS)—The trial of Charles E. Homeyer, accused of killing his wife in bluebeard fashion, drew to a climactic end today with court attaches expecting a verdict by nightfall.

The jury of eight men and four women in Wyoming county court was expected to retire for deliberation at noon after being charged by Judge Edward P. Little.

Prosecuting Attorney R. W. Trembath, seeking the death penalty, painted a grim picture of the defendant in his summation, charging that Homeyer, 54, murdered his fifth wife, Anna, 65, by beheading her, in order to pursue a Lonely-Hearts club romance.

A skull and pelvis bone identified as Mrs. Homeyer's were found buried under the concrete floor of the home they occupied in Factoryville.

Defense counsel Davis R. Hobbs said in his summation yesterday that Mrs. Homeyer died from swallowing an overdose of sleeping pills and that Homeyer became frightened and dismembered her body to get rid of it.

Yesterday's session was also highlighted by the disclosure that Hoemeyer tried to slash his throat with a razor blade in his cell before coming into the court room.

Sheriff James Wynd, Jr., said the defendant had the blade concealed in a pack of cigarettes.

Oil Situation In Iran Is 'Critical' Declares Churchill

LONDON, June 27.—(INS)—Former Prime Minister Churchill called the Iranian oil situation "critical" tonight and Prime Minister Attlee agreed on a secret conference between the government and Churchill's conservative opposition leaders.

Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison in another report to the House of Commons accused the Iranian government of stubbornness "and a lack of grasp of realities" in the oil dispute.

London newspapers said an evacuation order to British employes of the Anglo-Iranian Oil company which Iran intends to take over may be issued "at any moment" and that the cabinet had approved plans for a complete withdrawal within 72 hours.

The Laborite Daily Herald in an Abadan dispatch said some British workers already are concentrating around Abadan preparatory to leaving Iran.

Best-Dressed Women Named

Operator Of Ciro's Selects His List

By OWEN CALLIN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, June 28.—After ten years of watching the nation's loveliest women come in and out of his top Sunset Strip nightclub, Herman Hover has come up with "the best-dressed list". He calls it the "best-dressed women after dark".

Explained Hover, who runs a gay joint called Ciro's in the heart of the movieland capital:

"There is a great knack in being well-dressed in a nightclub. Few women know exactly what to put on and take off.

"A tailored suit is definitely not correct. Nor are those wide-brimmed cartwheel hats that look so fine at a garden party or a ladies' luncheon acceptable.

"Gals, your companion won't want to whisper sweet nothings in your ear at a dark table for two if you wear one of those. And, after all, there are other ways of giving your escort a black eye."

Named On List

Hover named Lana Turner and Jane Wyman of the films on his list. In addition there were Mrs. Edwin Pauley, Mrs. L. B. Mayer, Mrs. Winthrop Gardiner (Sonja Henie), Sharman Douglas, Gussie Moran, Mrs. Jules Stein, Mrs. Dorothy Jameson and heiress Doris Duke.

"Lana Turner is the epitome of Hollywood glamour," Hover said. "Her clothes, carriage and jewelry always are in impeccable taste. Jane Wyman is beautifully groomed at all times. I don't know who designs her gowns but the tailoring is made to show off her perfect figure."

Hover picked Mrs. Pauley and Mrs. Mayer "because they wear gowns in fitting with their positions as the wives of prominent men. Sailors wouldn't whistle at them on Hollywood boulevard but they would attract admiring attention at the finest Paris Ateliers".

Sonja Henie was lauded by Hover because "she dressed for her petite blonde loveliness. Just because she has a fabulous jewelry collection, she doesn't feel she must wear them all at one time. She knows the value of one perfect rose, or one perfect diamond."

Hover also observed that Sharman Douglas dresses to type, adding:

"She is a jeunne fille and doesn't attempt to be a femme fatale in clothes which do not suit her personality."

The other ladies on Hover's list also have made a fine science of dressing properly for an evening in a supper club.

"They always look as if they stepped from the pages of a fashion magazine—and after all, isn't that the aim and pattern of everyl woman?" asked Hover.

The U. S. army 14th engineer combat battalion recently constructed a 528-foot Bailey bridge, believed to be the longest of the type in Korea.

Chrysler To Reduce Forces By 20,000

DETROIT, June 28.—(INS)—The Chrysler corporation announced it is trimming 20,000 employes off the payrolls "to meet government restrictions on consumption of materials".

As of June 1 the corporation employed 127,000 persons in the United States. The company announced that when the new schedules have been fully developed it is estimated that employment will be 107,000.

A company spokesman reported that approximately 2,500 employes already have gone off the payrolls and 15,000 more will be affected at the end of this week.

The Chrysler corporation explained in its announcement that the employment reductions are necessary "to meet government restrictions on consumption of materials in the third quarter of this year."

Salvation Army Concludes D.V.B.S.

Salvation Army concluded a very successful Vacation Bible school on June 22, with a total enrollment of 94 young people from the ages of 18 months to 17 years. There was a total of 37 boys and 57 girls registered in seven departments, each department having two instructors.

Some of the high-lights of the daily program were flannelgraph Bible lessons, figurine painting, hobby classes, fundamental doctrine classes, educational movies and brass instrument instructions. Milk and cookies were given in mid-morning as a part of the program.

Forty-three decisions were made for Christ by the children at the conclusion of the 1951 Vacation Bible school. Envoy and Mrs. Robert Marshall were officers in charge.

Large Increase In U.S. Casualties

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(INS)—The Defense department summary of U. S. casualties in Korea today showed an increase of 3,145 over last week, bringing the total since the start of the war to 76,749.

It was the second successive week that the increase exceeded 3,000. Last week's jump was 3,287. These are the largest weekly increase since last October.

The latest total includes 11,254 killed in action; 53,227 wounded, of whom 1,308 have died, and 12,268 missing, of whom 108 are known to have died. The total of all deaths is 12,670.

By services, the Army has suffered 62,816 casualties, the Marine corps 12,411, and Air Force 661 and the Navy 861.

Economy Raids Are Paying Off

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(INS)—A self-styled "wrecking crew", composed of southern Democrats, claimed today that its economy raids on administration money bills are paying off.

Rep. Herlong (D) Fla., in a letter to constituents, said the "crew" has been successful in getting nearly every one of its amendments approved.

Here is the way Herlong described the group's operations:

"We employ an expert analyst who formerly had years of experience with the bureau of the budget and who knows the needs of the various departments and can separate their essential requirements from their desires.

"Based on the information received from him and what we know about it, we prepare and submit to the house amendments making cuts in the appropriations bill."

Herlong indicated the armed services bill will not escape the crew's sharp-eyed attention. He said:

"Proponents of this bill will insist that every item is essential, and that it would be unpatriotic not to give the armed forces all they ask for.

"Our problem in this case is going to make a complete study of the recommendations of the committee and to separate the wheat from the chaff."

FAMILY GAL

PHILADELPHIA— (INS) — Mrs. Laura Shaw of Philadelphia, who should know, says the more you love kids the more kids will enter your life. So, as she observed her 77th birthday recently, Mrs. Shaw looked on a family in which she has been mother to 12, grandmother to 33, great-grandmother to 49, and by the end of 1951, great-great-grandmother to one.

Fifty-one Ryukuan students went home in May after completing one and two-year scholarships at Japanese universities and colleges.

No Solution To Stalemate On New State Tax

By ED HAUCK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, June 28.—Hope for a quick solution of the stalemate over Gov. John S. Fine's budget was dim today following his meeting with a select committee of Republican senators.

Sen. A. Evans Kephart, spokesman for the group, was sparse in his details of the meeting held late yesterday in Fine's office.

No Conclusion

"We went over the matter from beginning to end and didn't arrive at any conclusion," Kephart said. He added he was acting chairman for the group which probably "will not meet before sometime next week."

He said he will fix an exact date later. It was learned that the group discussed a new soft drink tax of two cents a bottle and the advisability of doubling direct and collateral inheritance taxes.

The governor had no comment on the meeting which was fixed to hash out a compromise on Fine's demand for an income tax which he claims is necessary to balance his $1,200,000,000 budget.

Only Seven Attend

The committee, made up of 4 of the 12 GOP senators opposed to the income tax and four pro-administration senators, was selected to shake down an answer to the problem which has strung up major legislative activity for weeks.

However, only seven senators attended the conference. Absent was Senate Majority Leader John M. Walker, a foe of the income tax.

Nehru Sends Plea To Iran

TEHRAN, June 28 — (INS) — Prime Minister Nehru of India sent a message to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran today pleading for a peaceful settlement of the oil dispute.

Nehru said:

"Although the Indian government does not want to intervene in the petroleum dispute it have every hope that this question may be settled so that world peace will not be endangered.

"The Indian government believes that the solution must be a peaceful one.

'India hopes this question will be settled with regard to the national interests of Iran and safeguarding world peace."

Mrs. E. J. Cookson, Grandview avenue, R. D. 2, has received word that her son, Cpl. Robert L. Jenkins of the United States Marine Corps has been wounded in action while serving in Korea.

No details of the local soldier's injuries were given in the telegram sent from the government to Mrs. Cookson.

Cpl. Jenkins enlisted in June 1948 and left the states in August of that year. He arrived in Korea in September 1948 and has been stationed there since that time.

GYMNASTICS FOR GRANDMA

Susy likes to do the gymnasium work at school. She gets planned scientific exercise.

If these exercises are a means to an end, it is good, but if they are an end in themselves it is not so good.

If she uses her strength and skill to help keep her home in good condition, all will be well.

Gymnastics for Grandma meant sweeping and baking and walking and milking and ironing and skating and cooking, with a little courting thrown in for good measure.

Susy gets strength and skill in the gym. If she puts them to good practical use like Grandma did, we will all be glad.

Volant Marine Is Given Promotion

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Hutsler of Volant have received word that their son, Fred D. Hutsler, has been promoted to the rank of corporal. Cpl. Hutsler is attached to the Third Marine Brigade, Camp Joseph H. Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif.

Vacation Bible School To Close At Slippery Rock

Vacation Bible school at Slippery Rock Presbyterian church will close with a program Friday evening, June 29, at 8 o'clock with 87 pupils receiving certificates, according to the Rev. Ralph I. McConnell, pastor of the church.

Mrs. John H. Houk acted as director of the school.

The teachers included Mrs. Clair Doutt, Mrs. John Bates, Jr., Mrs. Russell Kemp, Mrs. Ernest Babcock, Mrs. Melvin Keller, Mrs. Wilbur Barnett, Miss Peggy Cole and Rev. McConnell.

John H. Houk acted as director of the recreation for the boys and assisted in the handicraft work.

Among those acting as assistants were Judy Bates, Judy Babcock, Peggy Hogue, Donna Miller, Arlene Weingartner, Emily Glenn, Mrs. Earl Friday, Marjorie Harris and Patty Menzer.

The school will enjoy a picnic Friday at noon. An exhibit of handicraft will be on display Friday evening.

PLANT IS PADLOCKED

HAVANA, June 28. — (INS) — The Havana communist newspaper "Hoy" was padlocked today after the plant was seized last night by police on orders of the Cuban ministry of interior.

The plant only recently had been returned to its communist publishers by court order.

The interior ministry action was based on a cabinet decision that the newspaper endangered the stability of Cuba's democratic government.

SELF-PRODUCTION

Dorseyville Fire Loss Over $45,000

DORSEYVILLE, Pa., June 28.—(INS)—Fire early today destroyed two $6,000 buses, an automobile and a pickup truck and coused thousands of dollars damage to a garage owned by Dorseyville building contractor William Critchlow.

Critchlow estimated total damages would exceed $45,000. He said plumbing material and equipment for the new Dorseyville volunteer fire department and some surveying equipment were ruined in the blaze. An automobile owned by a Dorseyville man also was damaged.

But six thoroughbred ponies, belonging to Critchlow's grandchildren, were led to safety by his daughter, Mrs. Esther Loub. A neighbor's car which was parked in the garage also was saved.

STRIPPED UNIFORM

SAN SEBASTIAN, (INS) — A Spanish soldier was more embarrassed than hurt when two crates of small bombs accidentally exploded nearby. He was doing sentinel duty when the explosion, evidently set off by the heat, wrecked the interior of the one-room building in which they had been stored and in the doorway of which he stood. The blast ripped off the soldier's uniform and left him standing naked except for his socks, shoes and helmet.

OUTDOOR RAMBLES with N. R. CASILLO

Cats, Chipmunks, and Robins

At about the time that the catbirds, robins and brown thrashers begin to play havoc with the ripening sour cherries, we can unfailingly look for the arrival of a chipmunk or two. The chipmunks love the discarded pits or stones of the cherries and will eat and store vast quantities of them.

This year two chipmunks have taken over, one with headquarters under the cement floor of the garage and the other under the walk adjacent to the back porch.

If chipmunks are given to congratulating themselves, the one next to the porch must have overwhelmed himself with praise and good judgment. This, because he immediately discovered the two jars of sun-flower seeds which we keep handy to replenish the bird feeder. The little fellow at once began to carry the seeds from the jars to his store room under the walk. Since he averages about one trip in five minutes, and carries from eight to ten seeds each time, you can well imagine the rapid disappearance of the seeds.

There is only one fly in the chipmunk's ointment and that is that the jars are handy to the route traversed by an old rheumatic tom cat who makes regular rounds to attend to whatever affairs tom cats are wont to. I suspect that the snappy minx up the street has something to do with it. Anyway, at least twice a day and an indeterminate number of times at night the old cat pads stiffly and lamely across the length of the porch, keeping well back of the glider, haltingly drops down the three steps to the ground and in so doing passes within inches of both the jars and the chipmunk's front door. It was inevitable that the two animals would some day meet. I eagerly looked forward to it.

We are also blessed with a pair of robins that have been with us now for three summers. They are the descendents of the first pair which ever nested on our premises; a slight albinism in the region of the tail attesting to the authenticity of the relationship. This latest pair is distinguished from all of the others by a marked pugnacity. They are the fightingest robins I have ever seen, especially the female. They will fiercely chase any catbird, brown thrasher and bluejay which they consider intruders, the two ganging up on the bewildered victim if the robins find it necessary. However, the female usually has the situation well in hand.

One day the robins were pecking away at a slice of bread thrown out to them while the numerous sparrow hangers-on kept a respectful distance. Suddenly, the robins were interrupted by a terrified squeak uttered by the chipmunk who had at long last met the cat practically face to face. The little animal turned tail and fled for his den. The cat prompted by its predatory instincts went into immediate action, but, alas, the frailties of advanced age were too much for it.

When the fleeing chipmunk was spotted by the robins the female immediately took after it. Then, almost at once the cat hove into sight and the robin changed its mind and dived for the cat, the male bird joining in the fray.

Well, the chipmunk made it safely while the beleaguered feline beat a hasty but dignified retreat into an empty lot. The foiled robins had to contend themselves by mounting a tree and raining choice expletives on the hapless cat.

Immediate Jailing Of 11 Convicted Reds Will Be Requested

NEW YORK, June 28.—(INS)—U. S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol said today he will press for immediate imprisonment of the convicted 11 top communist leaders upon receipt of the supreme court mandate upholding their conviction.

He said he expected the mandate to arrive "by Friday or Saturday".

Saypol added he will oppose any move to delay the surrender.

Harry Sacher, chief attorney for the convicted conspirators, initiated such a move when he suggested the defendants surrender next Monday.

MINTED COINS

NEW YORK, (INS)—The United States mint struck a total of 497,271,759 U. S. coins worth over $22,000,000 during the year ending July 1, 1950, reports the 1951 Encyclopedia America Annual. In the same period over 94,000,000 coins were minted here for foreign governments.

Engineman Of Wrecked Train Is Facing Indictment

NORRISTOWN, Pa., June 28.—(INS)—The engineman of the Pennsylvania railroad's Red Arrow Express involved in a wreck that took eight lives at Mryn Mawr last May, faced indictment today by the grand jury for manslaughter.

Frank B. Yentzer, 62-year-old veteran railroadman of Harrisburg, was held in $12,000 bail on eight separate counts of manslaughter after being accused of "gross negligence" by a Montgomery county coroner's jury.

The bail represents $1500 for each fatal victim of the wreck, that occurred when the Red Arrow telescoped the rear of a Philadelphia night express which was stalled near the Bryn Mawr station. Sixty-three persons were injured in the crash.

The coroner's jury stated: "We are of the opinion that the evidence presented here indicates gross negligence and careless operation of the Red Arrow Express train which constituted a menace and danger to the traveling public and the crews of both trains."

Lower Merion detective captain William Schaffer, one of the witnesses who testified before the coroner's jury, said his investigation indicated the crash resulted from the failure of Yentzer to observe track signals warning him of the stalled train ahead.

JOBS

NEW YORK, (INS) — The prospects for women obtaining top-level jobs are brighter now than ever before. A survey made recently by Pace College in New York shows that women are holding better positions today than they did ten years ago and are rapidly climbing the employment ladder in competition with men.

Some household soaps are yellow because of the addition of rosin, a standard ingredient to giving sudsing and hardening qualities.

Cancer Fund Contributors Are Lauded

Even with some pledges and cash still due, the Industrial Division of the Lawrence County Unit, American Cancer society, went "over the top" in its drive for funds this year, it was announced today by F. W. Fennell, chairman.

The Industrial Division, comprised of all manufacturing firms in the county, had a goal of $4,000 and so far in the campaign has contributed over $5,000, exclusive of pledges still to be paid. Approximately thirty-five companies participated, as well as thousands of industrial employees.

"This means," according to Fennell in a letter to all contributors, "that many more deserving people in our own communities will be helped in the constant battle against Cancer than ever before.

"And it means more money for research—so important to find the causes and treatment of this dreaded disease.

"For all this," said Fennell, "you and your employees and your firm deserve the highest form of commendation for your very generous contributions.

"We can think of no finer tribute to this help you have so unselfishly given than the grateful appreciation of those served by the Cancer society, in the name of humanity and making our communities more healthful in which to live."

Mrs. Blake H. Waldo, county captain of the Cancer society's local unit, lauded the generosity of industrial firms and employees in a letter to Fennell.

"We are especially grateful," Mrs. Waldo said, "that the Industrial Division has been able to give much more than in previous years.

"It is extremely gratifying that these companies and their workers recognize how much we can do with enough money. Remember, Cancer needn't be serious or fatal if it is caught in time. And we of the society are always here to help and serve you in time of need.

"On behalf of the society," Mrs. Waldo said, "I want to thank each and every company and employee who gave to the recent drive. Your money will mean so much to those it helps."

The local campaign for funds to the American Cancer society is scheduled to close in a few weeks.

BERLIN, June 28.—The western allied commandts in Berlin suggested to the Russians today a big four meeting of trade experts July 5 in the British sector of Berlin.

The letter sent to Sergei Dengin, Soviet control commission representative, said the purpose would be "to discuss measures insuring a normal flow of legal trade between west Berlin and west Germany".

Such a meeting would be the first big four conclave in Berlin since 1949 after the Soviet blockade ended.

Morita Fukui recently took office as Japan's first professional baseball commissioner.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Eating and Summer Heat

Before long now, in many parts of these United States, there'll be days that are scorchers. When the temperature and the humidity begin to set new records, children and grownups, too, are likely to become irritable and on edge.

Often, excessive heat interferes with appetite. Though most of us know this, we tend to forget it in the everyday pressure of living. We become concerned lest Johnny be ill when often it is just the heat. We push food on children when it would be far better to follow their inclinations. And we may not pay enough attention to the kinds of food that go well with hot weather.

Plenty to drink should be on hand. To supplement water, lemonade or other fruit juices can desirably take a major place in the refrigerator. Potato chips, cold meats, a little hot soup and ice cream or ices makes for a simply prepared and acceptable luncheon. If the weather is especially hot and a good deal of perspiring takes place, some salty foods are indicated since so much is lost through perspiration.

But, above all, don't pressure the youngsters into eating. They'll make up for small intake during hot weather by enormous appetites later.

MAN INJURES FOOT

Thomas Kirol, aged 22 years, of R. D. 9, Moravia street extension, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital Wednesday morning for injuries received when he dropped a heavy weight on his foot. He suffered a fracture of the large toe of the right foot.

An electric wall outlet designed to protect children against shocks and burns has caps that rotate automatically to cover socket not in use.

New Idea To Get Wage Increase Will Be Attempted

NEW YORK, June 28.—(INS)—The AFL Sanitation Workers union will open a "kill-'em-with-kindness" campaign July 2 in an effort to win $5 wage increases from the city of New York.

President Stanley Krasowski said the men will keep the speed of their trucks down to 10 or 15 miles an hour in congested areas, will handle garbage cans gingerly to prevent noise and adopt an "after you, dear Alphonse" policy with motorists and pedestrians.

Krasowski said the "inevitable creeping paralysis of sanitation service" will be the responsibility of city officials.

Sixteen French Servicemen Are Killed n Algeria

ORAN, June 28.—(INS)—Sixteen French servicemen were killed in Algeria today when the hydroplane in which they were flying hit a high tension wire, crashed and burned.

The accident occurred as the plane came in for a landing near Sebou Wadi.

Parents Lock Up Their Jinx Child

MANILA, P. I.—(INS)—Because her parents believed she was a "jinx," four-year-old Olivia Samson was bound and locked up in the bathroom for four months before police arrived and rescued her.

Facing charges of illegal detention are Mr. and Mrs. Petronilo Samson, of Pasay City, four miles south of Manila, who claimed Olivia "brought bad luck" to the family.

Police found the little girl stripped of all her clothes, her hands tied with a rope to a water pipe, and with tell-tale marks of torture and beating up..

The small girl, who police said "looked half dead from malnutrition" when they discovered her, survived on a once-a-day food hand-out consisting of leftovers and refuse.

Human excreta, flies and mosquitoes prevaded the small toilet in which the young girl was held prisoner.

Olivia, the third child in the family of four, immediately was placed under police custody.

Police investigation showed that the other three children of the Samsons, owner of a snack-bar located at Dewey boulevard, were treated as normal children.

WHERE'S SWEENEY

KENKAKEE, Ill., (INS) — The Kenkakee Lion's Club was pretty proud of member Paul Sweeney and decided to tell him so. President William Nolte announced at a club meeting that Sweeney was to receive an award for perfect attendance during the last year. But there was only one hitch to the presentation—Sweeney was absent.

THE WORTH OF THE INDIVIDUAL

JESUS GAVE HELP AND HEALING TO ALL WHO CAME TO HIM

Healing the leper.

"For Thou hast made him but little lower than God, and crownest him with glory and honor."—Psalm 8:5.

Scripture — Genesis 1:26-27; Matthew 8:1-4; 12:9-13; 18:1-6; 12-14; I Peter 1:17-19.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

In Genesis we read of man's creation. "God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over everything that creepeth upon the earth.

"So God created man in His own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created He them."

Isn't it odd that up through the ages man has not thought of his brother men as created in the image of the Almighty? If he had, how could he have treated him as he has?

And if all men realized that they are made in the image of God, how could they permit themselves to be so cruel, so unjust, so tyrannical to their brothers?

Are humans just beginning to realize their inheritance and to demand that they (every individual) should be treated with respect, love, brotherhood?

Jesus considered people worthy of help and healing. Every one who came to Him in faith and sincerity He aided—the beggar at the roadside, the rich man. Little children were His friends and He used a child to illustrate the humble spirit that men needed to achieve the kingdom of heaven.

Our first story that shows the spirit of Jesus is when a poor leper came to Him and begged to be cured. No one else would touch a person so afflicted. They would be afraid that they would become infected and "unclean." Jesus, the Christ, did not fear.

When the man, probably kneeling before Him, said: "Lord, if Thou wilt, Thou canst make me clean," "Jesus put forth His hand, and touched him, saying, I will; be thou clean. And immediately his leprosy was cleansed."

Jesus told the man to tell no one, but to show himself to the priest, and to offer the gift Moses commanded.

On the Sabbath Jesus went into the synagogue, and there was a man with a withered hand. Thinking to accuse Him of sacrilege, the Pharisees asked Jesus if it was lawful to heal on the Sabbath.

What man of them, asked Jesus, owning a sheep, would not lift it out of a pit into which it had fallen, even if it was the Sabbath? "How much then is a man better than a sheep? Wherefore it is lawful to do well on the Sabbath days."

Jesus had the man stretch forth his arm and when he did so, the Lord healed it.

The disciples came to Jesus to ask, "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven?" seeking special favors for themselves. Jesus gave them a lesson then and there: He called a little child and put him among them. Then He said,

"Verily I say unto you, except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven.

"Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven," and He went on to say that he who received such a little child in His name, received Him, and woe betide one who should offend such a little one.

In a recent lesson we had the parable of the man who had many sheep, and one went astray. The owner left the ninety and nine, and searched and searched until he found the lost one. Then he carried it home and gave a feast to his friends to celebrate the return of the lost lamb.

"He rejoiceth more of that sheep than of the ninety and nine which went not astray.

"Even so it is not the will of your Father which is in heaven, that one of these little ones should perish."

God, our Father made all of us and we all share the good things of the earth—or at least, such should be our heritage. When we do not share with others; when we are proud and treat them as if we thought they were not as good as we, we should remember Jesus in His brief sojourn on earth. He respected people for what they were. He "ate with publicans and sinners;" He talked to the woman of Samaria and taught her His gospel.

Why cannot we consider each person we meet as also made in God's image? Like little children, why are we not humble in spirit so that we too may inherit the kingdom of heaven. And why do we not act while we are here on earth as if we ARE made in God's image?

RHUBARB

NEW YORK, (INS) — Did you know that the rhubarb stalks we eat are actually the leaf stems of a hardy member of the buckwheat family? Home economists claim that rhubarb stalks orginally grew in Siberia. An amateur gardener in Maine first introduced the plant to Americans in the early 1800's.

News Of Local Veterans Training At Camp Pickett

The News is in receipt of the followiug concerning local reservists in training at Camp Pickett, Va.

The personnel of Company "B" 1st Bn Inf. Regt., being composed mostly of men who are veterans of World War II were surprised to find that the army has undergone some improvements which they believed would have never been possible. They traveled to Camp Pickett, Va., in a modern, air conditioned Pullman. After dinner in the dining car, the porter made up the bunks for the individual soldier and awakened him in time for breakfast in the dining car. To many, it was just a dream.

On the arrival at Camp Pickett, the men were welcomed to the camp in an address by the commanding general of the 79th division, Major General Robert W. Wilson, who told them they were going to undergo a very intensified training program for the two weeks spent here; firing all types of weapons and undergoing actual combat training.

The usual gripes can be heard, but believe it or not, the men are actually enjoying themselves. They know that it is for two weeks only and are taking everything that is thrown their way. They are showing exceptionally fine qualifications and abilities in the various problems presented to them.

The men are training daily in all types of warfare. They are firing all types of weapons, such as the M-1 rifle, carbine, 30-cal. machine gun, 81mm mortar, pistol and every other type of firing weapon.

Interesting Problem

One of the more interesting problems was the attack of an actual village, which was set up in the deep woods of Camp Pickett. In this particular problem the men were faced with "real enemy" and were given the satisfaction of hearing the words "well done" from the observation officer in charge. In this particular problem, one of our popular World War II veterans, who managed to keep from being captured by the Germans in Europe, was captured in this problem. Mrs. Fraser need not worry about the capture of her husband, Sgt. Bob Fraser, because the "real enemy" here was a soldier from his own company. The men also enjoyed hitting the dirt when they were taken on a "platoon attack". They hit the dirt so many times that Sgt. Baskyfield decided to just lie there and let himself be captured by the defense platoon.

The weather here has been very hot and sunny. The men have all been sunburned about the face and neck, but just enough to show that they are the most healthy soldiers in the division. If the employer or employees of the Bossert company see a strange looking individual, with a beard of about a foot long walk into the office or plant, do not be alarmed, he's not a beggar, or a man from Mars, nor a man from the hills of Virginia, but none other than one of your own employees, Lt. John Williams. He has been unable to shave for two weeks on account of being sun-burned about the face and neck. The officers who were in charge of the night problem had no fear of losing Sgt. Kaluger and his patrol in dense woods because his nose had the glow of that fluorescent red, also from the sun. Captain Obodzinski, the commander of Co. "B", who is undergoing the worries and difficulties which are familiar to present home builders, thought he would be relieved of his worries for at least two weeks when he got to camp, only to find that his worries were increased by trying to locate Lt. Aloe to detail some of the responsibilities. Co. "B" has quite a few 6-foot soldiers and it could be that Lt. Aloe finds his shelter among them.

The night problem also proved to be an interesting one. The men will be talking about it for many months to come. Many of the World War II veterans remarked that it was one of the most difficult problems that they had ever undertaken. The night was very dark, the brush was thick, streams were forded, briar bushes had to be pushed aside and fences had to be torn down or crawled over or under to get through. Sgt. Leslie, the leader of one of the patrols, showed real ability in compass reading and gained the overwhelming confidence of his men when they finally arrived back to their original starting point.

The men were beginning to worry about one of the officers and two of the enlisted men walking about the area who always appeared to have a blank look about them and wondered whether or not they knew or ever heard of the sick book. When asked about the situation, Lt. Jubach and M/Sgt. Walker along with the company clerk made it very obvious that they were knee deep in the administrative details of the company. Lt. Jubach stated that the worries of filling out one's income tax forms was a very simple matter in comparison to the amount of paper work that is involved with the reactivation of a two-week summer training encampment.

The post has opened everything available and are doing everything they can to make their stay here as comfortable and pleasant as possible. The morale is excellent, the food is good and the fellows are looking forward to next year's two weeks summer encampment.

Shotgun Jams, Youth Is Killed

PITTSBURGH, June 28.—(INS)—Robert Cicero, 14, is dead today because a shotgun jammed.

Robert was target-shooting in a stone quarry at Sewickley, near Pittsburgh, with four of his buddies.

When a shell exploded suddenly Robert was wounded in the abdomen. He died shortly after being admitted to Sewickley Valley hospital.

County detectives and Sewickley Police Chief Thomas Pendergast called the death accidental and said it occurred when the boys gathered around to see what had jammed the gun.

Pay Increase For State Employes Is Proposed

HARRISBURG, June 28.—(INS)—A $4,500,000-a-year pay increase for Pennsylvania's 38,000 state employees took its place today on the legislature's agenda.

Gov. John S. Fine proposed a 10 per cent cost of living boost in letters to Sen. Leroy E. Chapman (R) Warren, and Rep. Norman Wood (R) Lancaster, appropriations committee chairmen in the two houses. He urged them to initiate "legislative action".

"We must bring the salaries of our employes within range of private industry and the federal government so that they will not continue to take our most efficient employes from us," he said.

The pay raise would add nine million dollars to the appropriations included in his $1,200,000,000 budget, Fine reported.

"For some time state employes' salaries have been lagging far behind the inflationary increase in the cost of living," he said.

The total state payroll for the fiscal year ending May 31 was approximately $103,000,000, according to the state budget office.

Polio Virus Hits Almost Everyone

LAWRENCE—(INS)—The polio virus affects most individuals at least once in a lifetime, and this contact is of some value.

That was the disclosure made by Dr. David Bodian of John Hopkins university at the recent meeting of the Kansas Academy of Science. Dr. Bodian said:

"The polio virus invades its host by way of the respiratory system and alimentary tract. Since it is spread by coughing, it is impossible to prevent its spreading. However, since there are three types of viruses, a person who has an infection of one type is immune to it thereafter, and a second infection is always less severe than the first."

Dr. Bodian added that removal of tonsils should be avoided in the polio season since surgery opens susceptible membranes and allows entrance of the virus.

Cook Book Game Getting Near

If you are an officer or a member of a woman's organization, you may get a call shortly from a lady or gentleman with what appears to be a moneymaking proposition.

The pitch is this.

This representative will endeavor to sell you on the idea of selling a cook book. A very good cook book for it is to contain the favorite recipes of women of New Castle. The company will give your organization 100 of the books which you can sell for a dollar, and then furnish you as many more as you can sell out of which you get 35 cents of the dollar.

Oh yes, there's a little matter of advertising. The representative will mention casually that perhaps some of the merchants may want to advertise in the book and after the company takes $300 or $500 or some such amount, they will split the balance with you fifty-fifty.

The idea sounds plausible, but according to the Greater New Castle Association the idea has been exposed in other cities and found to be something approaching a racket.

"When you are approached upon matters of this kind," said Eben L. Reid, executive vice president of the GNCA, "call the police station. If the chief has refused a permit for the solicitation, stay away from it."

Meadville has turned down the proposal and the agents are heading this way.

New Wilmington Girl Scout Troop Visits Capitals

New Wilmington Senior Girl Scout troop has returned from a delightful trip to Washington, D. C., and Harrisburg, where many outstanding points of interest were visited.

Those who made the trip with their leader, Miss Jean Calhoun, follow: Bonnie Corey, Laura Jane Fowble, Carol Galbreath, Nancy Hamor, Faye Huff, Elaine Lehman, Beverly McGinnis, Janet McConnell, Mary Lou Mansell, Martha Reaney, Nancy Sharp and Eva Somogyi. Mrs. Eva Calhoun, troop mascot, and Mrs. Thomas Corey, a scout mother, were chaperones with Miss Alice Frew aiding part time.

The trip became a reality after 15 months of hard work and fun, being planned by the scouts, the leaders and the Pennsylvania railroad. After leaving New Wilmington, June 12, the group returned June 18, without any mishaps or illness.

U.S. And Britain In Consultation On Iran Dispute

LONDON, June 28. — (INS) — Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told the house of commons today that Great Britain and the United States have been in "quite close consultation all the way through" the Iranian soil dispute.

Morrison said that Britain has received nothing official to the effect that in his latest message to President Truman, Premier Mohammed Mossadegh asked the U. S. government to mediate.

Headquarters of the Anglo-Iranian Oil company said that many tankers enroute to Abadan have been ordered to other ports. Tankers already at Abadan were instructed to discharge their loads and proceed beyond the Shatt-Al-Arab bar off Abadan to await further orders.

Two Auto Fires Occur Wednesday

City firemen were called out twice for auto fires Wednesday afternoon, Fire Chief H. F. Steinbrink reports.

At 5:30, an alarm from box 35 summoned three departments to 454 Croton avenue, where the front seat of an auto owned by J. L. Maxwell was afire. Mr. Maxwell discovered the blaze after putting the car in the garage, and drove it outside, where he removed the burning seat. Damage of around $100 was done.

At 3:55 p. m. an old 1939 auto, parked in the rear of the J. J. Dean wholesale grocery, was found afire. It had been there all winter, firemen were informed. The damage was negligible.

After July 1 U. S. appropriated funds will be used to pay for all indigenous labor officially employed by U. S. occupation forces in Japan.

Improvements In Ward Noted

Residents Painting And Repairing Homes

Considerable amount of painting and repair work has been observed in the Seventh Ward over the past weeks, among both residential and business properties.

No section of the Seventh Ward is free from the improvement program, it has been noted, with the cleaning and painting bee having been sort of contagious.

Home owners have beautified their properties with the various improvements since spring. A number of business places in the ward have also been improved due to renovation work that has been in progress.

Ward residents are pleased with the news that a new railroad station is to be built on Montgomery avenue by the Pennsylvania railroad. The new station will be in easy access of all the citizens of the ward and will be a big improvement to the section of the ward where it is to be erected.

Some of the most outstanding gardens of the city and county have been planted in the ward by thrifty residents, who can be seen daily working their garden plots. Many are already enjoying produce from the gardens at the present time.

The park adjacent to the B. & O. tracks on Liberty street is quite attractive at this time of the year. City Forester Fox has put the park in good condition, with the grass and shrubbery nicely trimmed.

Ward Civic Club Disbands Until Fall

Word comes from president Fred McLure that the Seventh Ward Civic club has disbanded its activities until the fall. The club meets regularly on Tuesday in the Liberty hotel during the fall, winter and spring months.

Various projects sponsored by the club are being planned for the fall season. A number of interesting civic leaders and officials are to adrdess the club in the coming months.

Relatives Visit With Ward Folks

Mrs. Josephine Dahler of South Fork, Pa., is visiting with her brother, G. G. Emerick, of Sixth street. Also visiting with the Emericks are Rev. and Mrs. G. G. Eddings of Greenville, S. C. Rev. Eddings has just graduated from the Bob Jones university there, and he and his wife expect to embark for Venezuela as missionaries.

The guest of honor was Granville Gude, national president of the FTD whose home is in Washington, D. C. Thomas J. Cunningham was the toastmaster of the evening and handled the program.

President Gude was introduced by Ed Ludwig, of Pittsburgh, former National Vice-President. Don Johnston, of Canton, O., head of the Sales Comittee of the FTD, also spoke.

Following the dinner meeting the evening was spent socially.

Wheeling Area Woman Is Facing Charge Of Murder

WHEELING, W. Va., June 28.—(INS)—A 36-year-old Wheeling district woman was being held without bond today pending a charge of shooting and killing a nearby Roneys Point man.

Police said Rosie Harwatt, 36, operator of a nearby Elm Grove Cab Company, shot and killed her erstwhile boyfriend, Steve Lockmer, 55, operator of a motel.

The shooting ended a stormy 18-year romance between the two, police said, which was punctuated by frequent violent quarrels.

Police quoted the slender, dark-haired woman as saying, "He had it a long time coming . . . he had been running around with other women and stepping out on me."

Lockmer was shot twice near the heart last evening as he sat in a chair under a tree behind the motel he operates. Just before the shooting, witnesses said they heard the woman declare:

"He has seen his last daylight."

A few minutes later two shots were heard and Lockmer stumbled forward and fell face-down in a cinder driveway, witnesses reported.

Ohio County Prosecutor Thomas P. O'Brien ordered the suspected slayer held without bond pending a preliminary hearing.

Sen. Duff Silent On Eisenhower Reports

WASHINGTON, June 28.—(INS)—Sen. Duff (R) Pa., refused to comment today on reports he and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey are getting together to start a drive for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as GOP presidential candidate.

The senator's office said flatly, however, that a published report that Duff met Dewey recently in Albany is not true. A spokesman said "the senator hasn't been to Albany to see the governor and the governor hasn't been to Washington to see him."

Arrest 19 In Latest Roundup At Piers

NEW YORK, June 28.—(INS)—A corps of 120 immigration agents, police and parole officers swooped down on the piers at the Brooklyn Army Base today in a continuing roundup of persons in the U.S. illegally.

Nineteen persons were picked up early in the operation. They were identified as 18 Italians and one Belgian.

Forecast Probe Of Internal Revenue Office At Boston

BOSTON, June 28.—(INS)—An investigation of the Boston internal revenue office, patterned after a San Francisco probe which resulted in three indictments and five resignations, was forecast following the suspension of collector Denis W. Delaney.

Delaney was suspended by President Truman "pending the investigation of certain charges concerning the manner in which Mr. Delaney has conducted the business of his officec." The suspension followed announcement by Delaney that he had asked for retirement with a pension because of poor health.

Delaney, after the Truman announcement, said "you don't comment on an action by the president". He added he had "no knowledge of anyone in his office making money on the side."

GHOST DRIVERS

(Make Ghosts of Other Drivers, That Is)

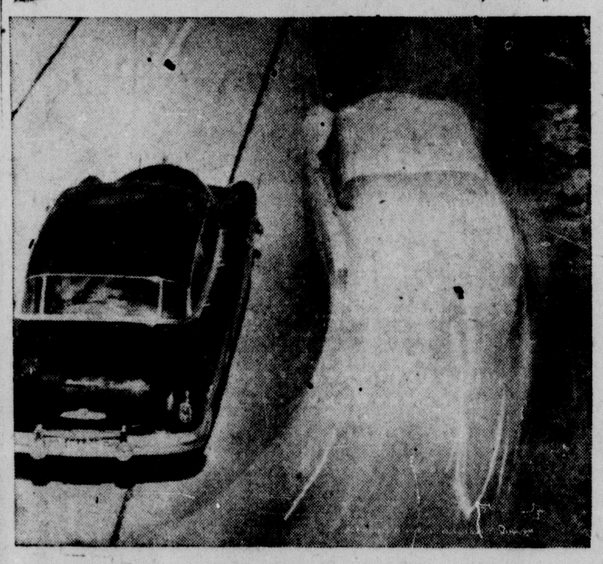
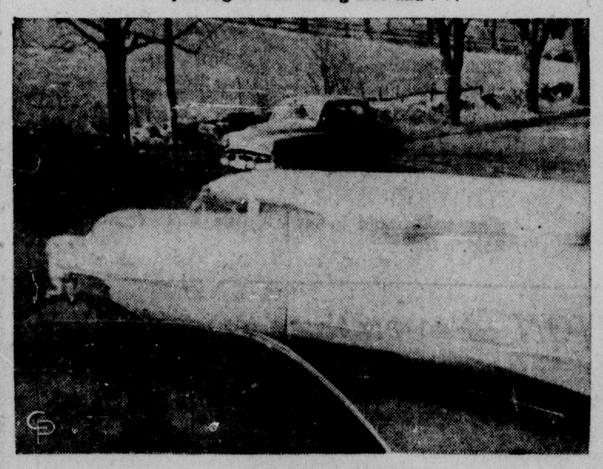
Most highway casualties are caused by "cutting in," . . .



. . . passing on the wrong side and . . .



. . . whizzing through.

THE ABOVE traffic law violations are among those which cause the majority of highway casualties, according to highway safety authorities. Reckless driving, they say, is a symptom of dangerous driver attitude. The driver (center photo) who is hugging the white center line is just as guilty as the chap who is passing him unlawfully on the right side. The posed photos are three of a series in a forthcoming issue of The Lamp, Standard Oil company publication. (International)

Powers Speaks To Kiwanians

Decries Drift In Government

In an address before the New Castle Kiwanis Club, Wednesday noon, Assistant District Attorney John S. Powers, spoke on our heritage, left us by the founders of our country, and of the manner in which our government has drifted from the precepts laid down by such men as Washington and Jefferson.

The declaration of independence, he stated was also a declaration of dependence, because in it, our forefathers expressed a devout belief in God and their dependence upon him for guidance. This countries founders held that man was made in God's image, and that the state had no right to interfere.

They also believed the government derived its just powers from the consent of the governed.

Warnings Issued

Washington, and many others, recognizing the old European belief that war was the sport of kings, attempted to steer this country away from such a course, and established a democracy instead of a monarchy, when the government was founded. They decreed that only Congress could declare war. Washington, in his farewell address warned against entangling alliances, which would lead us into trouble. Jefferson also warned that the European countries were always at war, and to shun any alliances with them.

An attempt was made during the term of John Quincy Adams, to include the United States in a holy alliance, but this was prevented.

However, we drifted from that policy, and formed alliances in 1917 and 1941, which have led us into difficulties. There were some leaders in 1898, who thought we should embark on colonization and imperialism.

Today, he pointed out, we seem to be pawns in the hands of international banking interests. We are also threatened by communism and have had proven to us, that Stalin is educating saboteurs to take over when the time comes.

Press Misled

The press of the country has also been misled, and has switched sides under changing conditions. We cried out in horrow when little Finland was attacked by Russia, but when Poland was ravaged, and millions of its citizens murdered, we uttered no protest because Russia had become our ally.

We made secret agreements at Teheran and Yalta, which betrayed the best interests of our country, he pointed out.

Today, we are seemingly losing our sense of moral decency and utter little protest against conditions exposed throughout the country of widespread gambling and the sale of narcotics to children, he stated. Even our spiritual leaders are not too much shocked by these conditions.

Truly, we are traveling far from the precepts of our forefathers, he pointed out in conclusion.

Washington, Harbor, Playgrounds Have Pet Show Programs

There were 85 pet show entries Wednesday at George Washington and Harbor playgrounds in the second of playground special events.

Prizes were awarded for the cutest, the funniest and the smallest dogs at Washington. The entry of Joe Swift was the winner, with a clown's costume, the entry of Todd Alexander, with a gangster makeup, was second, and the entry of Jimmy Webb third, dressed as a tropical fish.

Joe Fracul and Charles Cuba served as judges. More than 60 were entered in the pet show.

At Harbor playground Gerry Droeder's pomeranian dog won the first place award, the kittens of Susan and Patty Schrantz second, and the rabbits of Sandra Henning, third.

Honorable mention was given Sandra Herberg, Kenny Fye and Rod Cameron for smallest dog, oldest dog and biggest dog entries.

The judges were Mrs. Shrantz, Mrs. McCummins, Mrs. Sheen and Mrs. Herberg.

Home Electronics Adds To Comforts

MINNEAPOLIS, (INS) — The growing use of electronics in the home is adding to the comforts and minimizing the headaches and expenses of the average homeowner.

The research director of a leading manufacturer of automatic controls reports everything from television to thermostats has felt the impact of electronics.

Dr. Waldo Kliever, of the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Company, points out that the simplicity of electronic devices has at the same time released the homeowner from a host of service problems common to mechanical controls.

There are fewer parts and no moving ones in electronic devices, he explains, and therefore less to go wrong. They also provide safety features since gravity, temperature, humidity or vibration do not affect their accurate operation.

Typical of these simplified, sensitive devices is the electronic thermostat, he said. The sensing element consists merely of a wire. No moving parts, mercury or bellows to service or adjust. Yet Dr. Kliever adds, this thermostat, is 100 times more sensitive than ordinary heat controls. This last results in up to 10 per cent savings on the annual fuel bill, plus the greater comfort.

Because of the variety of things a tiny electron can sense and do there is virtually no limit to the number of applications of electronics that will be found for the home he predicted.

FIRST MILL

NEW YORK—Yaguate, a village near Ciudad Trujillo, capital of the Dominican Republic, is the site of the first sugar mill in the Western Hemisphere, erected in 1509 to grind sugar cane which was first introduced to Hispanola by Christopher Columbus in 1493.

Step Up British Plane Production

LONDON, (INS) — British officials report production of new warplanes is slowly being stepped up despite serious manpower shortages.

Some factories that continued to manufacture military and naval aircraft after the war have been able to increase production without serious difficulty.

But in factories where new production lines had to be set up the increasing problem is the lack of essential machine tools.

The labor force in the aircraft industry has begun to recover from its post-war low level of 145,600 in July, 1950; in February there were 155,300.

At the moment the big emphasis is on recruiting highly skilled technicians who left the industry when government economies were enforced after the last war.

Although work is going on at top speed in an endeavor to get the new, four-engined jet bomber off the ground, it is not thought likely that it will be in qunatity production until next year. The first plane—ordered straight off the drawing-boards—will be flown this summer.

Kindergarten Kids Grow City Garden

NEW YORK, (INS)—This is the time of year when Americans get green-thumbs and start working their gardens. But New York City is seldom thought of as a place where flowers and assorted vegetables can be cultivated at home.

But right in the heart of the Times Square section, a number of gardens are shooting up. And to make this feat one of the most unusual of its kind, the gardens are being cultivated by kindergarten kids!

The youngsters, dressed in overalls and flop-brim shade hats, are working away with hoe and spade on a rooftop. They're planting such crops as corn, radishes, lettuce and squash in large earth-filled wooden boxes.

The kiddies are members of the West Side Children's Center, one of seven maintained in New York by the Children's Aid Society.

JET TIRES

AKRON, O.—Aeronautical tire engineers have had to redesign completely World War II military plane tires to enable modern jet aircraft to fly at supersonic speeds. Jet takeoff speeds 50 per cent higher than those of B-29s called for the development of a tire capable of resisting the terrific heat that was built up within the casing, reports T. C. Graham, vice president of the B. F. Goodrich Co. New rubber compounds and new construction methods have resulted in tires that successfully withstand this destructive heat, he said.

Huge Telescopes Aid Exploration

PHILADELPHIA, (INS) — Astronomer Edwin Hubble says the growth of telescopes such as the 200-inch Palomar instrument has "opened the exploration of space about eight times larger than previously within reach."

Hubble told the American Philosophical Society that the great Palomar telescope permits scientists to "observe a region so vast it may be a fair sample of the universe itself."

Hubble is astronomer for the 100-inch Mount Wilson and Palomar observatories.

He told the society's convention in Philadelphia:

"Attempts are now under way to assemble the data that may permit us to infer the nature of the universe from the observed characteristics of the sample."

Hubble declared that development of the Mount Wilson telescope 25 years ago first permitted the exploration of space to "sweep outward in great waves."

"The 100-inch Mount Wilson telescope," he explained, "allowed us to break free from our stellar system and opened the realm of the nebulae."

The renowned astronomer said the Mount Wilson telescope, "suddenly enlarged the observable region of space a million-million fold and, for the first time, represented a fair sample of the universe."

Hubble said space explorations resulting from Mount Wilson telescopic observations gave evidence that the universe is rapidly expanding."

The 200-inch Palomar telescope, however, is far more powerful than the Mount Wilson instrument, Hubble explained, and "permits the application of more accurate techniques over a much larger sample than was possible with the 100-inch."

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, June 28—A Hollywood moviemaking firm and a noted swim outfit joined today to bring America's beauty contests "away from the mind and back to the body."

A spokesman for the two firms said:

"It's high time we went back to recognizing real American beauty, whether it be from the hills of Tennessee or the sidewalks of New York.

"The men of America want a real dyed-in-the-rayon (or is it wool) swimming beauty with a chassis that will send the boys away whistling and muttering in their suds."

Two-Cents Worth

Screen actress Marie Wilson, whose beautiful-but-dumb blonde roles perhaps qualify her for two-cents worth, said:

"I thoroughly agree. I used to be sort of prominent, and I was known for my erudite brilliance until I discovered that a high IQ gets a girl lots of scholastic honors—but hardly ever a boy friend."

Universal-International Pictures, Inc., has joined with Catalina swimsuits, Pan American Airways and the city of Long Beach, Calif., in sponsoring—not a Miss America contest—but a "Miss Universe" Competition.

The four-way enterprise is dedicated to finding the most beautiful body in the universe, and added that it was not ready to open the competition to Miss Venus because of intra-space travel difficulties.

The first annual "Miss Universe" contest will bring beauty queens from foreign countries to compete with Miss United States for the world title. Miss U. S. will be selected from 48 state winners.

"Miss Universe of 1952" will be selected as the highlight of a fiesta in Long Beach next year as the finale to a nationwide beauty elimination in which, officials say, "every mountain gal and every city slick chick" will be given the once over.

The Swimsuit firm entered the picture, obviously, when it was claimed that the "Miss America" contests at Atlantic City focused more attention on talent than figure beauty.

Anyone believe Miss America should have brains first, beauty second?

Weather Benefits Vegetable Crop In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, June 28.—(INS)—Vegetables in commercial truck crop areas were benefitted during the past week by warmer weather and sufficient rain, it was announced today by the State Department of Agriculture.

The department also forecast more hams and pork chops for fall months as the result of a 57,000 increase in the spring pig crop which totaled about 583,000 head.

In addition, the department said, farmers plan to breed about 77,000 sows for fall litters.

Heavy supplies of many fresh vegetables will be in markets by the end of the month, according to the department. The following vegetable outlook was reported:

"Demand for lettuce is slow, but heavy supplies are now available in the southeastern counties. Crops being cut are of excellent quality and yields are high. Harvest in north-central counties is expected shortly after July 1. There has been poor demand for spinach and cutting was delayed. Supplies are decreasing in the Bucks-Philadelphia area.

"Early planted sweet corn made very slow progress during most of early June. Nights and days were too cool and cloudy. Later succession plantings were delayed in all areas due to wet fields.

"Early plantings of snap beans have excellent standards but grew slowly during the cool weather. Harvesting has started in the southeast and in western Pennsylvania light picking is expected in June.

"Heavy supplies of beets are now available from the Bucks-Philadelphia area. Broccoli is moving out in steady volume. Cool weather favored this crop and yields are turning out well. Early summer cabbage is heading up rapidly and light supplies are appearing on local markets in southern and eastern counties.

Will Have Active Y Camp Schedule Until September

David Gatrall, program director of the New Castle Y. M. C. A., and director of Fred L. Rentz Y. M. C. A. camp, announced today that the camp will be fully active from now until the first week in September.

Louis Dayton, county agriculture supervisor, has taken western Pennsylvania 4-H groups to the camp for the week begun Tuesday, June 26, ending Tuesday, July 3.

The Margaret Henry Home and several church groups will then occupy the camp the following week, and beginning July 8 regular five-week Y. camping season will get under way.

The week beginning August 12 is set for the Shenango Y. group, and the two weeks following for the high school football camp.

In The Open

The second day of Summer brought along a sky full of threatening masses of cumulus clouds which seemed hardly more than a mile high. They moved across at a fairly good clip, occasionally ganging up to present what looked like a genuine storm front. At every opportunity the sun burst through, laying down smouldering barrages which reddened the neck of every country man raking in his hay field. The ground breeze came in fitful spurts, making bearable the hot, humid thickets when it blew, and turning them into sticky infernos when it chose to rest a while.

I ploughed through the waist-high weed growth in the bottomlands, heading for the valley stream. In an open spot where the sun was able to get in its work a patch of moneywort had spread golden blossoms across a wide area. This little immigrant has made itself right at home hereabouts and has become a colorful and most acceptable citizen.

Indian Hemp In Clusters

Indian hemp was hanging its first clusters of tiny greenish-white flowers in the creekside tangle. I twisted some of the fibres together and tried in vain to break them. The Indians used this tough fibre in mats, fishnets and clothing, and are also said to have used the juices of this plant in poisoning mangy old dogs about their camps.

Raspberries are reddening by the wayside. Another week will bring them to full-cluster ripeness, but I was able to pick up a delicious handful. While I was engaged in seeking out these fruits a yellow-breasted chat entertained from his perch well hidden in a greenbrier fastness. I always delight in the amazing jumble of sounds this bird has mastered. His showmanship is superb.

I pushed through the last bastion of poison ivy and stepped into the shallow, slow-moving creek. The water was low and clear, and teeming with tiny fish life of wide variety. The water willow stood in the shallows in wide patches, at places choking the stream from bank to bank.

This is a most beautiful plant, by no means uncommon in flat, slow moving streams, with gorgeous purplish flowers resembling miniature orchids. Only the fisherman or the curious countryman makes its acquaintance, for it must have its feet in water. A hand lens further reveals the loveliness of the blossoms.

My boots were tall enough to negotiate most of the stream, but while I was watching a school of shiners turning in the sunlight I sank deeper and deeper into the oozy bottom. Dragon flies were finding good hunting above these long eddies, and each reappearance of the sun set a company of the more slender damsel flies to fluttering all about me.

Forced Way Through

Deep, brooding woodland climbs the bank above the far side of this wide valley stream. I forced my way through the dense hydrangea clumps and soon stood in the deep shade, on a "hog-back" which cuts diagonally up and across the timbered hill.

Word soon got around among the deer flies that there was fresh meat on the hoof in that sweaty hinterland. They saw to it that I was not lonesome until I had left the woods, and they forced me to button my shirt collar high on my neck to avoid slashing attacks from behind.

Fire pink displayed some belated blooms along this trail, and off to the right lay a half acre of ground cedar. A tanager loafed about for a while, lazily feeding in the undergrowth and on the ground not fifteen feet from me. His tropical Summer suit was vividly beautiful, especially when a searching sun ray got through to him.

The Kentucky warbler is a common resident in this woods. I passed too close to his nesting area, and one of these loud songsters set up quite a fuss. His music is much like one of the melodies of the Carolina wren. Somewhere in the treetops the cerulean warbler was singing his ascending trill, but I could not catch him in the glasses.

Tasty June berries hung in luscious profusion on a trim shadbush halfway up to the ridge. I munched my fill of these crimson fruits before turning my attention again to the poison ivy and the bloodthirsty deer flies on that forest trail.

Mutilated Signs On State Highways Cost State Big Sum

HARRISBURG, June 28.—Many thousands of dollars, many hundreds of man hours are spent by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways annually for repair and replacement of mutilated roadside signs, Secretary of Highways Ray F. Smock said today.

And if you think motorists are responsible for damage to the signs you are sadly mistaken—or so say the highway maintenance forces.

No. 1 offender is the chap with a gun who finds the signs make targets that are irresistible.

No. 2 and 3, 4 and 5 are offenders with time on their hands who cover them with crayon, disassemble or bend them or tear them out by the roots, just for fun.

Malicious mischief it might be called although that is a charitable description of the wanton destruction wrought by those who endanger the lives of motorists.

Monkeying wtih highway signs has tragic consequences. Motorists have been killed at intersections where stop signs have been removed, on turns where the curve sign has been reversed, and in other accidents that need not have happened.

And where the consequences of sign tampering are less tragic there remains the waste of the motor fund dollar.

"Money that must be spent for repair and replacement of signs isn't available for highway improvements," Smock added. "It is just thrown away."

The 21st Thailand infantry regiment and the Greek expeditionary force attached to the U. S. army first cavalry division in Korea, have been authorized to wear the division's famous black and gold "horse patch".

New Surgical Technique May Aid Polio Victims

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—(INS)—Two Philadelphia research scientists are using a March of Dimes grant today for experimenting with a new surgical technique that may enable polio victims to do away with iron lungs.

The researchers are Dr. James O. Brown, assistant professor of anatomy at Jefferson Medical College, and Dr. Victor F. Satinsky, director of surgical research at Mount Sinai hospital.

They said they have used the technique successfully on 16 clinical animals to overcome paralysis of the diaphragm, or breathing muscle.

The method involves cross-connecting the paralyzed phrenic nerves supplying the diaphragm, with the vagus nerve, thereby restoring the function of the muscle.

The doctors said that although they have not performed the operation on human beings, they feel certain it will rehabilitate polio victims who must remain in iron lungs for artificial breathing.

The experiments were disclosed when a March of Dimes grant of $8,381 was presented to Jefferson Medical college for continuing the work.

Need Federation Of Free People Says Senator Kefauver

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 28.—(INS)—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D) Tenn., said today the best way to establish permanent peace is through a federation of the free people of the world.

The senator declared Stalin doesn't want the free world to unite and said the Kremlin would "do nothing of an aggressive nature" to speed up unification.

The former chairman of the senate crime committee told the 34th annual convention of Lions International Stalin is depending on the free world to remain divided "until he grows so strong our unity will be of no avail".

He added:

"Characteristically, any aggressor depends firmly on the slowness of democracy. They depend on us to act negatively, because among democratic governments there remain so many artificial barriers."

Union Boat Whistle Rests In Museum

CARBONDALE, Ill.—(INS)—An historic three-foot steamboat whistle used during the Civil War when the Union army moved its troops and supplies between St. Louis and Cairo, Ill., now rests quietly in the Southern Illinois University museum.

When the huge copper whistle was sounded it emptied the boiler of steam.

After the Civil War, the boat's engine, whistle, and bell were sold as salvage in St. Louis to a German immigrant whose name was Weihe.

He hauled the pieces by team from St. Louis to New Minden, Ill., 50 miles away. There he built a stone mill, using the steam engine for power. The mill was operated from 1878 to 1918, when it closed.

During the years of its operation the whistle on the old mill was used as a clock by the area residents. It was blown regularly at 6 a.m., noon, and 6 p.m. Its deep, mellow bass tone could be heard within a 10-mile radius.

Irvin Peithman of the university's museum staff, an ex-resident of the New Minden area, purchased the whistle and bell during the 1930s.

Guy Who Prefers A Life In Jail

PARIS—(INS)—Frenchman Sylvain Dieval can think of worse things than jail.

Dieval, a worker living in a town of northern France, is married and the father of eight children. Supporting the whole family got to be too much of a burden for him. Finally in disgust his wife threw him out of the house.

Dieval went to a nephew who sheltered him until one day Dieval found the nephew's wallet. He left for the bright lights of the city of Lille.

There he stayed until his money was gone. Then he journeyed to another town, far away from the wife and children and gave himself up. But the police didn't want him. They told him to go home and take care of his family. He was free, they said.

"But I don't want freedom!" Dieval cried. "I'm a thief and a miserable swindler. I deserve prison. You have to lock me up."

The judge tried argument. But Dieval wouldn't budge. It was the law, he insisted.

There was nothing left to do. The judge relented. Dieval went to jail.

AUTHOR GETS LIVORCE

He was married in Reno July 29, 1929, to Emma Brescia, who now lives in White Plains, N. Y.

Shriners Root Indians To Victory 8-4 Over Lockport

Tribe Will Meet Lockport Tonight In Series Final, Kowalski Homers

The New Castle Indians not only padded their third place lead, by walloping Lockport last night 8-4, but picked up ground, as Oil City topped Erie 5-1, and Butler trimmed Niagara Falls 3-2.

Over 600 fans last night, members of the Lawrence Syria Caravan Shriners, and youngsters helping to swell the crowd watched Bill Ciske outpitch the veteran Frank Wagner, to gain his third win against six defeats. Wagner a former New Castle Nats and Senators pitcher now has a 2-4 record.

Rossman Will Pitch Tonight

Manager Al Milnar has nominated the veteran Bennie Rossman to take the hill for New Castle tonight, and Manager Billy Mongiello has assigned the Lockport pitching chore to big Ed Kalski, former Albany Class A league star. Rossman lost a tough 6-5 decision at Lockport last Saturday. Game time tonight is 7:30 o'clock.

The Indians have a three-game winning streak at the moment, all of them over Lockport 6-3, 5-3 and 8-4. Today the Indians are but three games out of second place.

Kowalski Hits 9th Homer

Wagner had two bad innings before giving way to Costello in the eighth inning last night, the Indians pounding out four hits for four runs in the third, and two hits for three runs in the fifth as Walt Kowalski lifted a Wagnerian pitch over the left-field wall with two mates aboard, his ninth circuit smash of the year.

Prior to the start of the game the Shriners staged an opening "mock" day ceremony using "Cy" Ingam as a pitcher, Ralph Montgomery as a catcher, "Kelly" Montgomery as a batter, "Shorty" Ayers did the umpiring, and Harry G. Boyd as manager. Walter "Fibber" McGee acted as master of ceremonies.

Ciske Pitches, Bats Well

Ciske not only pitched a steady 11-hitter, scattering the blows over nine frames, but did a right smart job of batting, getting a single and double, and scored two of his team's eight runs.

Wagner lost his stuff after two perfect innings. Chet Butler walked to start the third, Horne flied out, Ciske fanned, then Ted Toles laced a single to center, Bill Green singled to right, Kowalski singled to left and Steve Magula doubled, all this producing four runs, before Frisina grounded out to end the inning.

Get Revenge On Wagner

The Indians added three more on Kowalski's homer in the fifth, and one more in the seventh as Ciske led off with a double, advanced to third on a long fly to right and scored on an infield out.

Lockport could not get more than two hits and one run in any inning off Ciske and the alert hustling Indians.

The Indians avenged an earlier defeat handed them by Wagner at Lockport.

Councilman Dick Davis, who talked to Sammy Snead in Pittsburgh Wednesday, announced today that the Slammer will be here at Sylvan Heights for a clinic at 2 p.m., July 4, and for 18-holes following, with city county champ Johnny Schneider and qualifiers John Gennock and Fred Palmer.

Bessemer Hopes To Stop Wampum's Winning Streak

County Teams Resume Feud

Elliotts, Unis Clash On 7th Ward Field

Today's Games

DeCarbos at Croton, 6 p.m.
Wampum at Bessemer, 8 p.m.
Indies at Hillsville, 6 p.m.
Elliotts vs. Universal, at Mahoningtown, 6 p.m.
West Pittsburg vs. Fees, at McClelland avenue, 6 p.m.

Bessemer who trailed Wampum in a fight for the 1950 championship of the Lawrence County loop, now out of operation, hopes to stop Wampum, current leaders of the City circuit at 8 o'clock tonight, at Bessemer, hence the 1950 feud is carried over this season.

Manager Jim Martin has Martin and Anderson prepped for the mound while Manager Bud Wardman, has Book, McCready and Wardman, ready for hill duty.

During the several decades Bessemer has been in baseball the team has captured some pennants and like Wampum, being power hitters, they're certain to make a strong effort to upset the league leaders tonight.

Wampum has won 14 and lost four, while Bessemer has won 11, and dropped eight.

Commissioners have assigned Copple and Orlando as umpires.

Elliotts vs. Universal

Universal hopes at 6 o'clock to chase the jinx from their presence. They play Elliotts who have taken two games from the 'UNis'. Snow or Latsko will pitch for Nick Gennock's potters while Frank or Rainey will be on the firing line for the Elliotts, 2-5. The Unis have a 13-6 record. This promises to be one of today's outstanding games. Morella and J. Conti will umpire.

De Carbo Bombers, apparently stingless will play at Croton who hope to make it their twelfth victory.

Favored Over Fees

Having defeated the Bombers and Hillsville, West Pittsburg team is favored to defeat the Fees.

Lawrence Indies with a 9-9 record play at Hillsville and want to make it 10 victories. They will pitch Burkes.

Dick Dunkle Rates Titans Fourth In Pa.

Villanova, Pennsylvania and La-Salle were the only Pennsylvania schools to rank above Westminster in the final Dick Dunkle handicap ratings listed recently.

Penn State's baseball team was rained out eight times during the 1951 campaign.

Yanks Blank Senators 2-0, White Sox Lose To Tigers

By HOWARD SIGMAND
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 28.—The Indian greeting for Big Chief Allie Reynolds these days is "wow."

The 32-year-old righthander, bothered earlier in the season by bone chips in the elbow which catcher Yogi Berra insisted he heard rattle when Allie wound up, has found success as an Indian no-giver.

Old Wahoo blanked the Washington Senators, 2 to 0 on five hits last night to win his fifth game in a row and his eighth of the season against four losses. The important triumph placed the world champions a game away from the first place Chicago White Sox, who dropped a 3 to 2 decision to the Tigers.

The Yankees can go back into first place for the first time since May 28 if they beat the Senators today while the Palehose lose to the Tigers.

Indians Win

Boston's Red Sox stayed close to things by scoring three runs in the seventh to edge the Philadelphia Athletics, 6 to 5 and the Cleveland Indians trounced the St. Louis Browns, 8 to 1 behind Mike Garcia's five-hitter. Luke Easter and Al Rosen four-bagger-ed for the Tribe.

The Brooklyn Dodger powerhouse blew up in the faces of the New York Giants and the National League leaders stretched their advantage over the Durochermen to six games with a 10 to 4 pasting.

Willie Ramsdell hurled the Cincinnati Reds to a 2 to 1 squeaker over the Pittsburgh Pirates and the St. Louis Cardinals walloped the Chicago Cubs, 14 to 2. The Braves and Phillies were rained out.

Upset Wins Scored By NCS, DeCarbo's In Mercantile Play

Braham tallied in the last of the seventh to follow up good relief pitching by Rose and the Business College was better by one run, 8-7, last night than DeCarbo's.

Braham hit for the circuit and Morella and McKinley triples.

N. C. STORE WINS

DeBias with two and Gibson with one double led the winners. States, Robb and Endress produced two-base hits for the losers.

Baker was the winning pitcher and Montgomery the loser.

Stegs Shutout Second Place Scotts 2 To 0 In City League Play

The strength of the improved Stegs in city softball play asserted itself at Gaston Park last week when second-place Scotts went under 2-0.

Duelists Rocky Paiano and Dinks Lane were each effective in pitching six-hitters but the fielding of the winners held up, and more concentrated hitting spelled the difference.

Saad, Lehberger and E. Pace accounted for all the Steg's hits and Henderson had two of the six allowed the Scotts.

Stegs will meet an oncoming Bossert team tonight at Gaston Park.

Kiddies To Use Special Gate

Will Utilize Third Base Bleachers

Over 400 youngsters, 16 years of age and under, sat in on the New Castle Indians and Lockport game last night, inaugurating the new promotion at Flaherty Field, and cheered for the Tribe as they downed Lockport 8-4.

Tonight the youngsters will use a special gate back of third base to enter the park, and will sit in the bleachers opposite third base, forming their own rooting section.

It was announced that more free season tickets will be available tonight at the gate, and also Friday and Saturday night. John G. Rubeis has charge of the distribution of tickets.

Al Scarazzo, Jack Lewis, business manager, and the board of directors are concurring in the movement to provide clean, wholesome entertainment for the kiddies free of charge.

All kiddies are asked to enter gate to left of box office tonight and sit in the third base bleachers. Why not have cheerleaders as they do in football?

Penn State is the front-runner in a current movement to eliminate spring football practice and the platoon system.

Little League Baseball

Fifth warders will again practice at Ben Franklin field tonight at 6 o'clock, it was announced today by manager Nick George.

The first ward will meet the seventh ward in exhibition play tonight at 6 o'clock at the Cherry street field.

Irish Bob Murphy Stops Jake LaMotta In Seventh, No Kayo, 21,000 See Bout

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 28. — Bob Murphy would like to talk a little manslaughter with Joey Maxim, the light heavyweight champ, Ezzard Charles, the heavyweight champ, and anybody else who wants to gamble his life against the San Diego skeleton like Jake LaMotta did last night.

It was once said of La Motta that he would die a boxer, and he nearly did before a crowd of 21,000 at Yankee Stadium.

Doctor Stops Bout

Dr. Vincent Nardiello, who stopped the scheduled 12-rounder after the seventh round, ostensibly because of the blood coursing from La Motta's right eye and lip, said afterwards Murphy might have killed him if the bout had gone another round.

"I asked him, 'Jake, how do you feel?'" Nardiello said. "He said, 'I feel weak.' I said, 'Well, you're not winning it anyway. I'm going to stop it.' He said, 'All right'."

This Murphy had La Motta figured dead center as the Bronx bull made his first invasion of the light heavyweight ranks. Jake, a good three inches shorter than the skull-faced Californian, had only one recourse—to bore in where his shorter reach would not serve at a disadvantage.

But Murphy was waiting for him. As La Motta came to him, Irish Bob raked him with tearing uppercuts that ripped the flesh from Jake's face.

Murphy Terrific

For three rounds it was a reasonably close fight, for La Motta still was fresh. After that, it was only a question of time, with Jake's handlers working feverishly over him between rounds to check the flow of blood.

"I was just as glad he stopped it," La Motta said afterwards. "I wasn't getting anywheres. My plans? I want some more fights. I don't know, maybe I don't want any more fights."

Murphy said, "I figured I was going good at the start. Then Jake came on in the fourth and fifth, and then I got going again. I figured one more round, I would have put him away."

Murphy was ahead six rounds to one on two of the officials' score-cards, and four-to-two even on the other.

Brings Bunch Of Roses

WILD OAT FARM, FLEMINGTON, N. J., June 28.—(INS)—Mr. Bib Stanley, who owns the dairy farm across the way, came through the kitchen door with his hat in one hand and a bunch of rambler roses in the other.

"I was afraid maybe you wouldn't be speaking to me," said Mr. Stanley as he offered the roses.

"Shucks, Mr. Stanley, accidents are accidents," I said. "Come on out on the porch and let's have a cup of coffee."

"I want you to know how sorry I am," Mr. Stanley said as he settled himself on the porch. "Like I told Emma, it couldn't have happened to worse people. I said there are these kind of helpless city folks coming down here every weekend, working their heads off, and the first year they get a decent stand of corn, darned if my cows don't have to get out in the middle of the night and eat two-thirds of it."

We've Bought Corn For Years

"Oh, well, we've bought corn for years," I said, bravely blinking back the tears, "and it won't hurt us to do it again this years."

"If it'd do any good, I'd kick that old Bessie around the barn!" Mr. Stanley said. "That fool cow! We got sixty acres of corn growing under her nose, and she has to come over here and eat five of the eight rows you've been tending like a baby.

"As I said to Emma, if Bessie had gone down the way to the Hammonds' and eaten their whole garden patch, I wouldn't have felt so bad. Anyone who's been farming for years like the Hammonds is used to acts of God and stray cows.

"But if city people manage to raise a tomato or an ear of corn, and they find a worm on it, by golly, they call the sheriff to arrest the varmit for trespass and unlawful entry.

"How's Mr. Robb? he asked, lowering his voice as if asking after the fatally bereaved. "He took it real nice this morning. Never said a cross word; just stood there looking at that cropped corn like it was his life's blood."

He'll Live

"He'll live," I said, lowering my voice to match Mr. Stanley's. "I've hidden the guns and the ropes, so he can't do any harm to himself."

"I never can see what pleasure city folks get out of the country," Mr. Stanley said. "Sometimes on Saturdays and Sundays when you're out here, I have to go in the house and lower the blinds. It wears me out, just watching you folks knocking yourselves out."

You know how it is, I said, the weeds and all. If science would just quit fooling with the hydrogen bomb and find something to eliminate the Japanese beetle and the chick weed, world peace and the brotherhood of man would probably follow automatically, as night the day.

"It can't be done," Mr. Stanley said. "Impractical. Malik is for the man-eating shark and the chick weed. And besides, it's high time I went home and fixed that gate so Bessie can't unlatch it. Emma and I want you to know we feel awful bad about the corn. Is there anything we can do to make it up?

Well I'll Be Darned

"Yes-s-s-s," I said a bit hesitantly, but only a bit. "Mr. Stanley, would it be terribly inconvenient if you weaned the calves during the week instead of over weekends? We didn't sleep a wink last night with all that bawling."

"Well, I'll be darned," exclaimed Mr. Stanley. "I never dreamed six or seven little ol' bawling calves would bother city folks after the subway and the elevated and the traffic noises."

"But we're used to the subway and the elevated and the traffic, Mr. Stanley," I explained. "It's just the calves and the crickets and the birds that keep us awake. The real reason Mr. Robb was so nice about the corn this morning was because he was so groggy from losing sleep over the calves he didn't have enough strength to be cross about the corn."

Mr. Stanley shook his head in amazement.

"Let's make a bargain," he said. "You forget about the corn and I'll wean the calves in mid-week. What do you say?"

We shook hands on it.

Poor Lo Has Many Legislative Friends

HARRISBURG, June 28.—(INS)—That poor Indian named Lo, much abused by poor punsters, today was rich in friends among state representatives.

Exactly 206 assemblymen indicated they would vote favorably on a bill to repeal all laws granting bounties for Indian scalps.

However, their sympathies for swayed no little by Rep. Edwin W. Tompkins (R) Cameron, who beat the tom-toms for the bill.

In is unannounced bit of comic relief yesterday, Tompkins strode into the hall of the housse attired in Indian dress complete with war paint and feather head-dress and plumed for passage.

He was aided by the bill's sponsor, Rep. Early E. Hewitt (R) Indiana, who pointed out that a proclamation issued by provincial Gov. Robert Henry Morris in May, 1756, providing for $150 for each Indian scalp still is on the statute books.

There was only one dissenter. He was minority leader Hiram G. Andrews who suggested the law remain so that Gov. John S. Fine could scalp enough Indians to collect the "wampum" to balance his budget.

American-Ryukyuan Friendship Day was celebrated in the Ryukyu islands on May 26 with sports events and other activities.

Crop Outlook In State Is Good

HARRISBURG, June 28.—(INS)—The outlook for field crops and fruit is bright today.

The state department of agriculture reported that all crops are growing well as a result of showers. June fruit drops were normal.

The department also reported that Japanese beetles have appeared in the Harrisburg area just three days later than last year. The infestation will peak late in July or early August.

Korean tiphia wasps, 150 females to a colony, will be used to fight infestations throughout the state, according to the department. Fourteen colonies already have been distributed—four near the airport, two at Fox Chapel, two near Greensburg and one each near Waynesboro, Mercersburg, Scotland, Landisburg and Elliottsburg.

The wasps burrow into the ground and deposit eggs in bettle grubs; the eggs hatch and devour the grub.

This pleasant powder has no gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Doesn't cause nausea. It's alkaline (non-acid). Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.
